A COMPLETE SUCCESS.

Grand Army Carnival
in Newtonville.

"Vets" Receiving a Liberal Patronage.

For every one of its comrades Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., may count on 100 friends. And the best part of this fact is that zealous and enterprising women, whose aid is indispensable, are as much in evidence as men with their loosened pocketbook strings.

Such is the secret of the success of Grand Army carnival held this week in Temple hall, Newtonville, under the post's auspices and which is to continue this afternoon and evening and tomorrow after noon and evening.

Though a decade has passed since Newton has had a similar opportunity of substantially expressing its admiration and gratitude towards the veterans public interest is today even greater than it ever was in the past. One need but visit the carnival to appreciate this, but then of course every one has.

There was a striking and pleasing harmony in the hall decorations which were entirely of festoons of white bunting tastefully relieved, however, by attractive arrangements of the national colors or the well known shields of stars and stripes.

Women of every ward of the city vied to make their respective table the best. In face of that what was to be expected? why, the very best of everything good, and it was easy to see that nothing was too good for the veterans.

Such a display of useful and fancy articles as found purchasers every afternoon and evening has seldom if ever been equaled in this city.

But then this was not all for nearly a score of other features such as a palmist, who had your present, past and future at the tip of her fingers, a colonial room, the like of which was never seen in Newton, a relic room, a war-story telling camp, lemonade well, the goose that laid the golden egg and a supper room and refreshment cafe.

CLICQUOT CLUB GINGER ALE was exhibited in a special booth and by a very efficient demonstrator. It was under the supervision of Darrell & Waugh, grocery and provision dealers of Newton Centre, who are the agents for this popular beverage.

It was very noticeable that all who partook of this very choice drink lingered for a time after setting down their glasses to speak a word of commendation. Messrs. Darrell & Waugh are to be congratulated and have easily succeeded in adding to their well-established reputation for enterprise.

Tuesday evening there were formal opening exercises. W. A. Wetherbee of the executive committee presented Hon. Henry E. Cobb as chief marshal and he in turn called upon Secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Hon. William M. Olin, Mayor John W. Weeks of Newton and Department Commander Silas A. Barton. All made congratulatory speeches after which Commander Barton declared the carnival officially opened.

Wednesday evening the Newton High school corps of cadets' officers in full uniform were the special guests. Thursday evening the young women of Lasell battalion made a very pleasing appearance and this evening there will be Grand Army men from Natick, Waltham, Watertown, Cambridge, Brighton and Needham, and men of Co. C, 5th Regt., M. V. M. Tomorrow night's program is to be elaborate and will mark the ending of the interesting contests conducted by popular votes.

Chief Marshal Cobb's staff included William J. Follett, chief-of-staff, Col. Isaac F. Kingsbury, adjutant, and Maj. Seth A. Ranlett, Col. Geo. H. Benyon, Capt. E. R. Springer, Col. A. M. Ferris, Sergt. Morton E. Cobb, Col. Chas. L. Hovey, Dr. Edwin A. Knight, Capt. Oliver H. Story. More than 100 citizens, representing every section of the city acted as aides-de-camp.

The executive committee included Chairman W. A. Wetherbee, Commanders C. S. Ober, Geo. Hill, W. T. Shepherd, H. D. Degen, G. M. Fiske, E. E. Stiles, Treas. S. S. Whitney, Sec.

The reception committee was made up of Past Commander W. W. Caruth, Hosea Hyde, T. Pickett, W. A. Wetherbee, H. W. Downs, R. M. Lucas, S. S. Whitney, C. W. Sweetland, A. T. Sylvester, E. Gort, W. D. Tripp, H. D. Degen, John Flood, Geo. Hill.

Ladies' committee—Wards One and Seven. President, Mrs. Willard D. Tripp; vice-presidents, Mrs. S. Curtis Smith, Mrs. T. W. Trowbridge, Mrs. John E. Alden, Mrs. J. C. Ivy, Mrs. A. DeW. Sampson, Mrs. C. O. Tucker, Mrs. S. S. Whitney, Mrs. A. W. B. Huff; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. James A. Morse.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Assessors and Overseers of Poor Confirmed—Important Street Railway Petitions.

Mayor's Inaugural Recommendations Debated and Principal Matters Tabled.

The first regular meeting of the aldermen of 1902 since inauguration, took place last Monday evening. President Weed in the chair and Aldermen Baker, Barber, Brown, Carter, Chesley, Day, Ensign, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Kimball, Lothrop, Lowe, Mellen, Norris, Pond, Saltonstall, Trowbridge and Webster were present.

JURORS.

The first business was the drawing of jurors, and Aldermen Saltonstall and Norris were appointed a committee to escort the Mayor to the chamber. The committee immediately returned with the Mayor, who assumed the chair and appointed Alderman Trowbridge to draw the name of one Grand juror for Middlesex County. Richard M. Lyons was so chosen. Alderman Mellen then drew the names of Samuel W. George, Michael Nolan and Edward A. True as traverse jurors and the Mayor retired.

STREET RAILWAY HEARING.

At the hearing upon the petition of the Wellesley & Boston Street Railway Co. to double track Washington street, West Newton, as far as Commonwealth avenue, President Claflin said that the location is desired to give Auburn direct communication with Nonantum square.

The location will necessitate a widening of the street and removal of the tracks to the center of the street. It would then be possible to run the Auburn and Lower Falls lines independently of each other. He believed this route was the unanimous sentiment of Auburn.

Senator Chamberlain for the Waltham Street Railway Co. said that as his company had presented a petition for a location in Auburn and Washington streets, covering a portion of the route now before the board, he simply desired delay until their petition could be considered.

Mr. Wm. H. Mague, an owner of 800 feet frontage on Washington street, seriously objected to the location unless the street was widened. It would be a serious damage to his property if granted under present conditions.

Mr. Andrew Peters said he had lived on the street for 45 years, and opposite his place the street was less than 40 feet wide. He did not want a double track. He also criticized the company for running flat wheel cars and rattling journal boxes.

In closing Mr. Claflin stated that his company expected to do their share towards widening the street, on a reasonable basis.

The petition was then referred to the franchise committee and the hearing closed.

APPOINTMENTS.

The nominations of Charles F. Rogers as an assessor for 3 years; Thos. C. Parks, Ward 1, Geo. F. Williams, Ward 2, Wm. H. Rand, Ward 3, Bernard Early, Ward 4, George May, Ward 5, Albert H. Roffe, Ward 6, Edward W. Cobb, Ward 7, as assistant assessors and Wm. Bresnahan, Ward 1, John B. Turner, Ward 2, James H. Nickerson, Ward 3, Geo. E. Johnson, Ward 4, Miss Ethel W. Sabin, Ward 5, E. M. Fowle, Ward 6, and H. C. Daniels, Ward 7, as overseers of the poor, were severally confirmed by written ballot, 19 votes being cast in each case.

EX-MAYOR FOWLE.

The following communication was received from the Mayor:

To the Board of Aldermen, — Gentlemen:—

It is my painful duty to announce the death of the Hon. William B. Fowle, for two years a selectman, for one year an alderman and for two years Mayor of the City of Newton.

Anticipating your probable wishes and to a degree the action which you might have taken, I directed that the flags of the city be placed at half mast until after the funeral and suitable honors were paid at the funeral services.

I would suggest that ex-Mayor Fowle's memory be further honored by you in such a manner as seems to you appropriate.

Respectfully submitted,

John W. Weeks, Mayor.

The Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton in noting the death of the Honorable William Bentley Fowle, its third chief executive, on January 21, 1902, records upon its minutes its appreciation of a patriotic, successful and useful life.

Born in Boston on July 27, 1826, he was an honored member of its Common Council in 1860, and in 1862 and in 1865 when he was chosen as its presiding officer, which service he performed with ability.

As the captain in 1862 and 1863 of a company enrolled in the 43rd regiment of Massachusetts Volunteers he rendered a year's service in the defense of his country's rights and honor.

On his removal to the town of Newton he entered actively into its municipal life and was one of its board of selectmen from 1869 until 1871.

After its incorporation as a city he served in 1877 as a member of the board of aldermen and as the city's chief magistrate in 1878 and 1879.

On his retirement from official life he continued to maintain as a public spirited citizen an active interest in the city's best and permanent welfare.

His recorded acts and words show the value of his life to our city more than an expression and this testimonial can declare and we tender to the members of his family our tenderest sympathy in their sorrow and the comforting thought of his appreciated useful life.

In moving the adoption of the minutes by a rising vote and ordering a copy sent to the family of Mr. Fowle, Alderman Ensign said that while he had no personal acquaintance with the ex-Mayor, it would seem very appropriate that the board honor his memory by the adoption of the minutes.

The motion was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

A communication from the Mayor suggesting that legislation be obtained to authorize the payment of wages to the widow of John Foley, until May 1, 1902, John Foley having been accidentally killed while in the employ of the city. The matter was referred to the committee on claims, but subsequently withdrawn and referred to the committee on legislation.

On the communication from the school committee relative to filling vacancy in their number caused by the removal of Rev. H. Usher Monroe, from Ward 4, a joint convention was assigned for February 17th.

PETITIONS.

Petitions of Gould et al for improvement of Beacon street, Waban; Stevens et al, for sewer in Beacon street, Ward 6; of Wm. H. Baker for sewer in Oakwood road; of Sabin et al relative to condition of Reservoir avenue and of Rogers et al for change of name of Pierce street to Aberdeen street; (petitioners to be granted a hearing) were referred to the committee on public works.

Petitions of Sabin et al for street lights on Reservoir avenue; of Dyson et al for street lights on Cottage street; of Buckley et al for street lights on Jackson street; of Costello et al for street light on Washington avenue; of Nash et al for street light on Forest street; of Putnam et al for street lights off Grove street; also for street lights on Washburn avenue and Newell road; of A. V. Carbone for pool table on Elm street; of the Telephone Co., for pole locations on Summit street, on Bowers street, on Langley road; on Oakleigh road, and for attachments on Montvale road, Hammond and Ward streets, were referred to the committee on public franchises; hearings being assigned on the telephone matters for Feb. 12 at 8 p. m.

Petition of A. Leslie Harris for an innholders' license at Upper Falls was presented. Alderman Chesley urging immediate action. Aldermen Lothrop, Pond and Trowbridge opposed hasty action and upon statement from Chief Tarbox that he was unable to report as to whether the statutes had been complied with, Alderman Chesley's motion was withdrawn and the matter referred to the committee on public franchises.

Petitions of B. P. Sands, Geo. R. Kelso and E. F. Barnes for auctioneer licenses were granted, and similar action was taken on petition of Charles P. Clark to move a building from Pelham street to off Pleasant street, after Alderman Lothrop's questions had been answered by Alderman Chesley and Chief Randlett.

On motion of Alderman Trowbridge, hearings were assigned on March 3rd upon petition of D. H. Robblee to locate a 12 horse power gas engine on Brooks street, (7.45 p. m.); on petition Waltham Street Railway Co. for location on Auburn and Washington streets, (7.45 p. m.); on petition Waltham Street Railway Co. for location on Concord street, Washington street, Waban avenue, Beacon street, Woodward street and Boylston street, (7.45 p. m.); and on petition of Boston & Worcester Street Railway Co. for location in Parker and Dedham streets, (8 p. m.)

Petitions of Edwin A. Rogers for damages to child's coat, and of L. K. Schwaer for damages caused by neglect to widen Walnut street after notice, were referred to the Claims committee.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The reports of the committee on rules relative to approval of journal and of the public franchise committee recommending leave to withdraw on the petition for telephone poles on Newtonville avenue, were accepted.

The following reports were received: PUBLIC FRANCHISES—Favorable to petitions of Telephone Co. for pole locations on Central street, Hill street, Arlington and Marlboro streets; to attachments on Lexington street, Hawthorne and Aspen avenues, Beacon street, Cedar street, Langley road, Erie avenue, Hancock avenue, Hancock street, Washington street and Webster street and to pole locations to Gas Co. on Langley road.

MAYORS' ADDRESS—relative to subjects recommended by Mayor.

Alderman Saltonstall thought action should be taken by the board on the four matters in the latter report, not specifically covered by orders, but the chair ruled, the point being raised by Alderman Ensign, that the receipt of the report discharged the committee.

ORDERS.

Orders confirming the sale of $141,000 Mason school bonds and $70,000 Ash street school bonds were adopted, after Alderman Lothrop's explanation that the bonds had been delayed until Mayor Pickard's term of office had expired.

Orders granting $4,000 for interest on temporary loans; granting pole locations on Hillside avenue, Central street, Arlington and Marlboro streets to Telephone Co.; granting pole locations on Langley road to Gas Co.; granting attachments to Telephone Co. on Lexington street, Webster street, Hawthorne and Aspen avenues, Beacon street, Washington street, Hancock street, Erie avenue, Cedar street, Chase street, Langley road and Hancock avenue; and requesting committee on ordinances to consider ordinance to make term of mayor two years after 1902, were severally adopted.

On the order requesting legislation to require compensation for use of streets by telephone and gas companies, Alderman Hutchinson questioned the advisability of the step. Alderman Saltonstall thought the city did not bind itself to act by passing this order. Alderman Mellen expressed himself as being in the dark. City Solicitor Slocum explained that this bill placed an excise tax on this kind of corporations; that it was a general bill, applying to the whole state and opened up a new field of legislation. Its provisions were compulsory. If not ratified the petition would be withdrawn or referred to the next general court, and there was a possibility of a commission to consider these matters this summer.

Alderman Hutchinson did not like the idea of committing the city to such action and Alderman Saltonstall insisted that the committee desired an optional tax. The matter was then tabled until the next meeting.

On the order to amend the charter to provide for a board of principal assessors, one of whom should have no voice in assessing real estate, Alderman Lowe stated that at a hearing given the Mayor and assessing department, the Mayor had modified his recommendation as printed, to the plan as presented by the committee.

It was the intention of the committee that the three assessors should personally assess all real estate, and the fourth member should attend to the City Hall work.

Alderman Lothrop thought this a step in the right direction, although he would be willing to give the present assistants equal rights with principals in assessing personal property.

Alderman Hubbard thought it impossible for 3 men to cover the entire city, but Alderman Saltonstall said that they could begin as early as they wished in this matter, and though the first year would be hard, it could be systematized in the succeeding years. The assistants were to remain as at present, and the city could have the benefit of their services at $5 per day. Alderman Hutchinson thought it a very important matter, and desired a more explicit explanation than given by the special committee.

Alderman Mellen was also dissatisfied although expressing confidence in the committee, and on his motion the order was tabled until the next meeting.

On the order establishing a commission to readjust the street lighting system, Alderman Lowe said that it was notorious that the city paid for many lights and was poorly lighted. He favored the plan of readjustment in order to bring about a more equitable arrangement of lights.

On motion of Alderman Mellen the order was amended to include a consideration of the feasibility of a municipal lighting plant and adopted.

Resolutions relative to lower rates of fare on the Boston & Albany were adopted, after amendment by Alderman Ensign, recognizing the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. Co., as lessees had been accepted.

The various subjects in the Mayor's address not covered by orders were then taken up on motion of Alderman Saltonstall.

The reference of the matter of a fire station at Chestnut street was adopted after a lengthy discussion over the wording of the recommendation for "immediate and favorable consideration." Alderman Mellen opposed such language, and said while he did not doubt the need of such action he desired the committee to be free to use its own judgment. Alderman Lowe, Saltonstall and Brown all spoke on the point that it was simply the opinion of the address committee, and Alderman Mellen's motion to amend was defeated. Alderman Hutchinson's amendment to insert the words "in the hope of immediate favorable consideration," was also lost, the chair incidentally ruling that an amendment to a committee report was in order when it intended to express the opinion of the board.

The report of no action necessary on the matter of reducing minimum width of street to be adopted to 30 feet, was adopted, as was the suggestion that the Chestnut Hill school house await a substantial petition and a suitable site.

The recommendation that the extension of the provision of the ordinance requiring removal of snow from sidewalks await proper petitions was adopted after brief remarks by Alderman Lowe and Brown.

During the session a recess was taken to allow the committee on legislation to meet, and on reassembling its report recommending a petition to the General Court for authority to make payment to the widow of John Foley, was received and the order therefor adopted.

On motion of Alderman Mellen the thanks of the board were tendered to the G. A. R. for the courtesy of complimentary tickets to the festival. Alderman Ensign called the attention of the members to the Read Fund lectures, and at 10.37 p. m. the board adjourned.

COMPANION OF KERMIT ROOSEVELT

YOUNG SON OF CONGRESSMAN A. L. POWERS COMMANDS PUBLIC ATTENTION AS A "STRENGTH" PLAYMATE OF THE PRESIDENT'S SMALL SON.

Congressman Powers of Newton, says A. Maurice Low, as Washington correspondent of the Boston Globe, is the proud father of a 11-year-old son, who is a schoolmate of Kermit Roosevelt.

Leland Powers and the President's son are about the same age, and they, together with Philip Knox, a son of the attorney general, form the "big three" of the Preston school. These three boys are inseparable.

The private school which they attend has about 50 pupils. There is nothing about Kermit Roosevelt to distinguish him from the rest of the other pupils, unless it is his superabundant vitality, which is such a predominating characteristic of his father.

Kermit stands well in his class, and never refers to the fact that his father is President of the United States, or acts as if he thought he was any better than his playmates.

When school is over a few of the boys who compose the circle to which Kermit Roosevelt belongs repair to Atty. Gen. Knox's house on K street just a few doors below Senator Hale's home, where they have things their own way.

They romp and race through the large house and the stable in the rear. Their favorite game is called "Police and burglars," and it is exciting enough to please the most strenuous mind.

The boys climb over fences with surprising agility and no end of noise.

The quiet, dignified air of that neighborhood for the time being is noisy with the exuberant spirits of American boyhood, and not a few society women have rushed to the windows expecting some terrible catastrophe had happened, only to see Kermit Roosevelt on the roof of the house with a piece of broom handle in his hand, marching proudly with a "burglar" by the coat collar, each step on the tin sounding like the roll of distant thunder.

Washington Letter.

Washington, Feb. 3, 1902.

The Philippine revenue bill is still before the Senate and there seems to be a concerted effort on the democratic side of the chamber to delay its passage. What the democrats have to gain by filibustering is not apparent unless they are hoping to embarrass Secretary Root and the Philippine commission, nevertheless that appears to be their policy. So foreign to the question have been the discussions of some of the senators in speeches supposed to be germane to the measure that Senator Hoar recently suggested that the Senate "consider the life and character of Mary Queen of Scots." Senator Lodge had not attempted to press the passage because he first desired that the Philippine committee have an opportunity of listening to such testimony as Governor Taft might have to offer. The Governor's statements have all supported the contention of the administration that peace is being rapidly established and that, with the funds necessary to carry on the public improvements required in the islands, the last vestige of the insurrection will disappear. Without the building of good roads, however, some of the brigands in the more inaccessible portions are likely to make trouble for some time to come.

The Senate has passed a bill providing for the establishment of a Department of Commerce and Labor and favorable action is expected in the House. Particularly is this assured because the House has already passed a measure making the census bureau permanent, a feature which is practically incorporated in the Senate's measure. The republican senators have determined upon a program for the remainder of the session which provides that the Philippine government bill, the subsidy bill and the Cuban reciprocity bill shall be considered in the order named.

The Ways and Means Committee has determined upon the abolition of the special war taxes and the democratic press has been industriously engaged in an attempt to place the members of the committee in a wrong light before the people. When asked for an interview on the subject, Chairman Payne handed to your correspondent a statement which is too long for reproduction here, but which says, in part, that the Committee had no thought of disposing of the Cuban question by reporting in favor of the reduction of the war taxes, that the committee had had no conference on the Cuban matter, and that "the bill to reduce war revenue taxes was taken up because it was the sentiment of the committee that the burdens resting upon our own people should be lightened before we turned our attention to lightening the burden of other people." Mr. Payne further assures me that the Cuban matter will receive full and careful consideration before a decision is reached and that it will be considered at an early date.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT.

The opening year of the twentieth century was marked by several events in Hospital affairs of more than passing interest, incidents which presage a wider field of usefulness for this institution as time advances.

During the past year the diphtheria ward and administration building connected therewith which have been provided by the city of Newton, were finished and occupied.

As is well known to those most concerned, the scarlet fever ward also adjoining the contagious administration building, is now in course of construction, and will doubtless be completed during the coming spring months. We have been seriously inconvenienced by lack of this second ward for contagious cases, and have not been able to do ourselves justice or give the staff and patients such complete appliances as will be in our possession when the scarlet fever ward shall be ready for occupancy.

The visitation of small pox which came to us during the past year, though fortunately of limited extent, has emphasized at once the value of such provision as had been made for treating that serious malady, and at the same time has forced upon us the conclusion that our accommodations for care of measles and small pox cases are inadequate and not in accordance with present knowledge of requirements for those diseases.

By removal of the morgue to a point more accessible from the general wards of the hospital, it becomes necessary, for that and other important reasons, to provide a morgue for reception of contagious cases. It has been therefore suggested that the present measles ward be removed to a suitable position and fitted for use as a morgue in connection with the contagious wards, and that the city government be asked to provide a plain, substantial ward for small pox. With this addition to our equipment, we shall be enabled to care for every kind of contagious disease excepting tuberculosis, in such manner as will give to patients who may be so afflicted the best possible appliances now known to the medical art. For this fortunate condition we are indebted to the intelligent liberality of the city government and officials.

It is exceedingly gratifying to know that His Honor, Mayor Weeks, is keenly alive to proved advantages of hospital treatment. This is illustrated by the Mayor's inaugural, from which it would seem fitting to quote. He says:

"I believe that a new small pox hospital should be constructed by the city whenever the trustees of the hospital wish it done. No recommendation to this effect has been made by them, but whenever it is made it should receive your prompt attention."

It will be remembered that at the last quarterly meeting of the board of trustees, the executive committee was authorized to procure plans and estimates for such a building as is now needed for this purpose, with the intention, with this information in our possession, to make formal request of the city government in accordance therewith.

As indicated in last year's report, on completion of the two wards for contagious cases, a lease for ten years was executed by the city government to the hospital corporation of the contagious wards and land which had been previously leased to the city for a long term, accompanied by an agreement in respect to care of contagious cases, in conformity with the arrangement made between the hospital and the city government in 1897.

From numerous inquiries which have reached us, it may be inferred that this agreement will form the basis of similar arrangements in other places.

Another notable accomplishment of the year is construction of a substantial brick male ward to replace the former Thayer ward rendered unavailable by fire. This ward is in harmony with all recent additions to our plant, and will be a lasting comfort to physicians, nurses and patients.

The next building in contemplation is a model maternity pavilion, to be erected on the westerly side of present structures. Mr. Bertrand E. Taylor has made a preliminary study of this ward, having carefully inspected the large hospital recently opened for the same purpose in New York, the gift of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan. He has also been in consultation with our regular and consulting staff, and others whose special knowledge of the requirements entitle their opinion to careful consideration. It is our purpose in the projected building such accommodations and comforts as will largely increase the number of those seeking benefit of treatment in a structure of this character.

From statistics in an admirable article in the National Hospital Record by Dr. DeLee of Chicago, it appears that during the year 1900 the lives of something like 1 per cent. of mothers at time of birth were sacrificed, while some 13 per cent. of children are recorded as having died within a few hours of birth in cases where such events occurred in homes. Dr. DeLee pertinently asks, "Is not this mortality too great if it can be avoided?" and answering his own inquiry he says,—"It may be." Dr. DeLee further states that no home, however commodious or whatever conveniences it may possess, can by any possibility supply safety and comfort for obstetrical cases in anything like the degree to be secured in such a building as is now contemplated. These and other equally cogent considerations have so impressed themselves upon the members of our staff and others who have given this matter thought, as to have led to the definitive conclusion that such appliances must be provided in connection with our work. The new ward will be built by a number of friends of the hospital, as a practical benevolence which will greatly increase the usefulness of the institution, at the same time adding appreciably to the income account.

Aided by the courtesy and liberality of President Bliss and directors of the Boston & Albany and New York Central Railroad companies, the hospital corporation has secured ownership of the strip of land between the contagious wards and crest of gravel bank of the railroad company property. This makes a useful addition to our grounds, and prevents further possible encroachment through excavation by the railroad corporation.

In consequence of the interest and effort of our associate trustees, Assistant Hutchinson, and others, work has at length begun on the main sewer connection, which at no distant date will be connected with the hospital system. This will afford long needed relief, and will in some measure obviate the stress of duties laid upon the executive committee and clerk of the corporation.

The work of the hospital during the past year, while not as extended as in 1900 has been of a most useful and satisfactory kind. We continue to receive untold words of approval from those who secure the ministrations of our graduate and under-graduate nurses. It is abundantly clear from accumulated evidence in many directions, that the qualifications of individuals selected from numerous applicants, as well as training and cultivation given to nurses of the Newton hospital training school, are of exceptionally high order.

Owing to excellent work of the finance committee, re-enforced by valuable co-operation of the Hospital Aid Association, at the instance of Mrs. Paine, results of hospital Sunday collections were larger than in any former year, indications pointing to a total contribution from this source approaching $10,000. As foreseen in plans in active management of the hospital, cost of maintaining the enlarged plant will necessarily be much greater, demanding larger income. Responses thus far in evidence to a recent appeal framed by Dr. Shinn for additions to the endowment fund, are disappointing. In order to insure efficient operation of an institution of this character, liberal endowments are essential. It is to be hoped that those who have it in their power to assist in hospital work will not fail to respond to these suggestions.

The Hospital Aid Association has further extended its invaluable assistance to the hospital, and is considered by the board of trustees an indispensable adjunct. The Newtonville Woman's Guild and many other bodies have aided us by liberal contributions in money, useful articles, advice and service, all of whom have the grateful appreciation of the board of trustees.

In reviewing past experiences, the mind naturally rests upon special incidents of our work illustrating different phases of hospital activity. One connected with the Elizabeth Dennison children's ward is recalled with peculiar pleasure, wherein a little girl patient, expressing profuse admiration of the attendants, declared that she did not want to leave such a beautiful room. Another recalls one of our associate trustees seated in a ward by the side of a little patient one afternoon, relieving the tedium of the child's long, weary hours by giving lessons in basket making. Surely it is not patients alone who receive benefit from hospital environment.

In the last annual report, fervent hope was expressed that the life of our associate, Dr. Thayer, might be spared. Shortly after this expression, Dr. Thayer was taken from us, leaving a void which it does not seem too much to say none can fill; it would not be possible to over-state the extent or value of services rendered this institution during years of unselfish devotion by Dr. Thayer; from the very beginning of the work here, he was a pillar of defense, a steady support and an unfailing source of good counsel and cheerful aid to his associates on the board of trustees, to his medical brethren of every faith, to nurses, patients and all who were in any way brought in contact with his helpful nature.

It may well be doubted whether the abundant measure of successful achievement reached by this hospital could have been attained without the presence of his noble, delightful personality.

He has worthy successors, as he had loyal coadjutors. Herein lies our chief assurance for the future; for it is always to be remembered that if the extraordinary success of this hospital in the past is to be continued indefinitely, it must be largely as a result of that willing work of which members of the medical profession, amongst all examples of human endeavor, shine as conspicuous exemplars.

Recently we have again had to mourn the loss of one of our medical staff, Dr. Wiley, who had given us admirable, long continued support.

Mr. Otis Pettie, one of the incorporators and since the commencement a member of the board of trustees, has requested the nominating committee to substitute for his name that of a gentleman who will have it in his power to give more time and energy to hospital affairs than is now practicable for him. The nominating committee has been fortunate in inducing a gentleman who has all necessary qualifications for this responsible and honorable position, Mr. W. Claxton Bray, to become a member of the board and also of the executive committee. The committee may well be congratulated upon its action, which will in a measure offset the loss sustained by the retirement of our associate, Mr. Pettie.

With so much achieved, the need of still more opening to our vision, there is every incentive to a continuance of that loyal, co-operative effort which has blessed our labors in the past, and which will doubtless consecrate future endeavor.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

I herewith submit my annual report for the year 1901. The "Hot water" plant has been installed and paid for at a cost of $2,305.01, which included changing of pipes to the Nurses' Home. We have also recovered the pipes from the Nurses' Home to the contagious wards, built a new coal bin, and added a fire escape to the Coburn ward, and other minor things which were found necessary to keep up the efficiency of the plant. The old Thayer ward, having been almost wholly destroyed by fire last June, it was found imperative to build a new Thayer ward. The estimated cost is about $13,500, and to pay for the same the Emergency Fund was appropriated, $5,140.97 Insurance money collected, 4,161.00 From Endowment Fund, a part of the profit on sale of C. B. & O. stock covering loss on Atchinson bonds in 1893 and made good by the Corporation at that time, 3,418.06 which nearly pays for the new building.

We have received no legacies the past year for the Endowment fund, but the balance of profit from the sale of the C. B. & O. stock has increased it to $70,887.04. During the present year we expect to receive legacies from estate of Miss Shannon, $10,000. Estate of Josephine Hyde, 3,000. Estate of Mrs. Fleming, 1,000. We have now on hand $6,322.80 for general expenses for 1902, which is less than the amount contributed by churches, owing to the smaller number of patients treated compared with last year, and the increased number of part pay and charity patients for the past year.

Our real estate and buildings and contents account is less than last January, as follows:

Cost one year ago,	$136,580.73
Added new Thayer ward to date,	6,857.66
Laundry machinery,	51.49

	$146,508.48

Furniture therein,	3,000.00
There is, besides, accident policies on boilers amounting to $30,000.00, and employers' liability policy against accidents for $10,000.00.

We are now in possession of the property in Chicago covered by our two foreclosed mortgages. One, a private dwelling and costing us $3,823.10, is now let for $22.50 per month, and the past year has netted $199.42 to us. The other an apartment house costing us $11,522.62, we have just come into possession of, and enough apartments are let to bring $126.00 per month, and if all were let the rents would amount to $175. per month. The opinion of the Finance Committee is that they should not be sold at present. The property is being looked after by our agents in Chicago.

Number of weeks treatment is 2491 making cost of $13.18 per week average in all wards, or $12.92 in general wards, and $14.50 in contagious wards, somewhat larger than last year, owing largely to increased cost of most everything that enters into the cost of maintenance.

Our assets are as follows:

Cost of land, buildings and contents,	$127,720.86
Endowment funds and uninvested cash on hand,	70,887.04

State House Letter.

(Special to the Graphic)

It has taken from Friday until today for the clerks of the House to get in shape the bills and petitions which have been introduced. The limit for receiving new business expired at five o'clock on Friday afternoon last, at which time 150 measures were filed in the Senate and about 500 in the House. 150 of the House petitions were, however, petitions in aid of bills already introduced. Three hundred and sixty-five measures were accompanied by bills, which had to pass through the state printing office, and this has consumed a great deal of time. The various committees now know very nearly what they have to do in the next six weeks or so before the time expires for making reports of committees to the House and Senate.

No more comprehensive measure has been offered this year than that introduced by Representative Dana in behalf of Mr. Raymond L. Bridgman of Auburndale, the veteran newspaper correspondent of the Springfield Republican, which also bore the names of many prominent Newton clergymen and others. It asks for action in the direction of the establishment of a world-legislature to settle matters of difference now too often left to the arbitrament of war. There will be a general sympathy with this effort of "Deacon" Bridgman, however difficult the scheme may appear as to its execution.

Marcus C. Cook of Beacon Hill has introduced once more his petition for a law to provide for a greater Boston by permitting any city or town which adjoins Boston by land or bridge to become annexed through a concurrent vote. This measure will doubtless be considered jointly with the report of the greater Boston commission in favor of a metropolitan county, which has been kept alive from year to year by reference to succeeding General Courts. The chairman of that commission, Osborn Howes, Jr., of Brookline, annually comes before a legislative committee to exploit his ideas, but that is as far as the matter ever gets.

Theodore C. Hurd, the Middlesex clerk of courts, has introduced a petition for the appointment of a third assistant clerk to receive a salary of $2500.

Frank M. Forbush of Newton, with others, has introduced a number of petitions, one of them seeking to provide for costs in equitable process after judgment, which stipulates that judgments shall not be satisfied until the debtor has repaid not only his indebtedness in installments but all costs paid by the creditor. Mr. Forbush also has a bill to provide that the judgment of the lower courts may establish a prima facie case in 1 cases appealed to the superior court.

Mayor Weeks has petitioned that the city of Newton may be authorized to pay to Mary Foley, the widow of John Foley, late laborer in the employment of the city of Newton, the wages to which he would have been entitled had he lived and continued the work for the city until the first day of May next. Others ask that she have the full year's pay.

William H. Baker has again attacked the Boston police board, petitioning for the appointment of an excise commissioner, a police commissioner, and a referee in the city of Boston. The excise commissioner, who is to be appointed by the Mayor with the approval of the aldermen for a term of three years, is to have charge of the granting of liquor licenses, the police commissioner, also to be appointed by the mayor with the approval of the aldermen for three years, shall manage the police force; while the referee to be appointed in the same way, shall hear and determine all complaints affecting the revocation of licenses or against police officers. Each is to receive a salary of $6000 per year and be furnished with official stenographers and a reasonable number of clerks, and each may be removed by the mayor for cause with the consent of the aldermen. The bill is subject to acceptance by the citizens at the next city election, and the present metropolitan police statute is by its terms abolished. There is small probability of this bill becoming a law. Mr. Baker has also offered a bill on his own petition for legislation to regulate the purchase and sale of stocks by brokers which will doubtless make more or less trouble for Mr. Dana's committee on the judiciary.

City Clerk Isaac F. Kingsbury has petitioned the General Court for a law to provide for the issue of certificates of membership in the volunteer militia for use as evidence in exemption from jury duty, and for a return of the names of the members of the volunteer militia and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company. He has also proposed a law to require corporations to fix the number of all persons in their employ who are exempt from jury duty.

Two years ago I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and little 'Pelle's,' and improved from the start. ## THE ASSESSORS.

There seems to be a general sentiment that a reorganization of the assessing department is desirable, the only difference being as to the plan to be established.

The mayor urges a board of four principal assessors, one for City Hall work, the other three to have entire charge of real estate assessments, such assessments to be made on the judgment of all three, and with the fourth assessor to make the personal property assessments at City Hall. The seven assistant assessors to continue to perform their usual work, except as above.

The assistant assessors favor a board of ten assessors, to have entire charge of both real and personal assessments. The strong argument of the latter is that a large board has a wider knowledge of the usually intangible personal property, and would thereby bring larger results into the city treasury. The only objection is the cumbersomeness (so to speak) of requiring a majority of such a large board to make real estate assessments, as is evidently required by law.

Granted that both results, that of uniform real estate assessments by a small number of experts and that of wide knowledge of personal property by a large board of assessors, why is it not feasible to combine the good things of both and partially follow the lead already set by the City of Boston.

Such a scheme would require a board of four assessors and seven assistants, as proposed by the mayor, three of the principal assessors to have absolute control over real estate values and the entire board of eleven, both principals and assistants, to constitute a dooming board for personal property assessments.

The details of such a scheme could be easily worked out and would undoubtedly prove of great value to the city.

THE FOLEY CASE.

The action of the city in seeking legislation to benefit the widows and families of deceased city employees is not one to be commended as a rule.

If any case is to be favored however, it is that of the late John Foley, whose 28 years of faithful service as a city teamster was fatally terminated some weeks ago by his attempt to stop a runaway horse owned by the city. The city seeks to pay his widow the wages which he would have received had he lived and continued to labor until May 1, 1902.

The ground taken by the city in this matter is subject to criticism as to the methods pursued, although no one will object to obtaining the same results through means which do not establish so dangerous a precedent. A similar accident happened only a few years ago in Newtonville square, but no municipal aid was invoked in that case, and it is hardly fair to treat one differently from the other.

We suggest that a payment of money for the heroic efforts made by Mr. Foley to save city property from damage would be safe ground as a precedent, for while the city teamsters are expected to care for property under their control, they ought not to be required to endanger their lives in its defence, and if such an occasion occurs, they are clearly entitled to extra compensation.

To be vaccinated or not is the great question this week at the State House. The opponents of vaccination in the great stress over depriving the citizens of personal liberty, forget that civilization, for the common good, necessarily demands many sacrifices by the individual. The principle that a person can endanger the lives of others by his own foolishness will not be countenanced for a moment in the intelligent state of Massachusetts.

A young lady for an overseer of the poor, is quite an innovation in this city. The mayor's selection, however, shows his usual good judgment, and one which the future will undoubtedly vindicate.

The Newton Education Association is agitating the matter of a playground for Nonantum. Success to their efforts.

City Hall Notes.

There were 37 deaths during January, 21 males and 16 females. The rate per 1,000 was 12.21. The greatest number of those who died were of advanced years. There is but little contagion in the city.

Mr. C. Lincoln Hatch of the auditor's office has the sympathy of his associates and many friends in the death of his mother, which occurred at Leicester on Sunday last.

The board of assessors organized for '02 yesterday with Samuel M. Jackson chairman and C. F. Rogers clerk.

Co C Annual Prize Drill.

The annual prize drill of Company C, 5th Regiment, M. V. M., will be held at Army hall, Newton, Monday evening, Feb. 10.

At the close of the civil war and before he was well known Wendell Phillips, the distinguished abolitionist, went to Charleston and put up at a hotel. He had breakfast served in his room and was waited upon by a slave. Mr. Phillips seized the opportunity to represent to the negro in a pathetic way that he regarded him as a man and a brother and, more than that, that he himself was an abolitionist. The negro, however, seemed more anxious about his breakfast than he was about his position in the social scale or the condition of his soul, and finally Mr. Phillips became discouraged and told him to go away, saying that he could not bear to be waited on by a slave.

"You must 'seuse me, massa," said the negro. "I is 'bliged to stay here 'cause I'm 'sponsible for de silver-ware."

Charity's Choice.

"Mummy," said a small girl—"mummy, den, I do wish I might give some money for poor children's dinners."

"So you may, darling."

"But, mummy, I haven't any money."

"Well, darling, if you like to go without sugar I will give you the money instead, and then you will have some."

The small child considered solemnly for a moment, and then said, "Must it be sugar, mummy?"

"Why, no, darling. I don't mind much. What would you like to do without?"

"How would soap do, mummy, then?" exclaimed the small maiden in triumph.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Got His Money.

When King Edward VII. was an undergraduate at Oxford, he was a great huntsman, and few men could beat him across country. On one occasion his royal highness and some other riders galloped into a farmyard by way of a short cut. The farmer, a sturdy yeoman, closed the gates and told the huntsmen they must pay £1 apiece for trespass.

One of the gentlemen smiled indulgently at the rustic and said, "But, my good man, this is the Prince of Wales."

The good man was in no wise abashed and retorted, "Prince or no prince, I'll have my money." And he got it.

FINAL HONORS PAID

FUNERAL OF THE LATE ADMIRAL L. A. KIMBERLY IN FIRST UNITARIAN CHURCH, WEST NEWTON, LAST FRIDAY

Funeral services over the late Admiral Lewis A. Kimberly were held last Friday afternoon at the First Unitarian church of West Newton.

The edifice was filled with a representative gathering made up of some of the most prominent naval men of the country, together with members of the Loyal Legion, Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., Mayor Weeks and others of the Newton city government, and prominent men and women.

From the Kimberly residence on Perkins street to the church the coffin containing the mortal remains of Admiral Kimberly was escorted by eight blue-jackets from the U. S. S. Olympia and a bugler, under the command of a commissioned officer.

Directly back of the pulpit platform, in front of which was placed the bier, were admiralty colors and flags of the Union. Evergreen and palms made a sombre yet fitting background.

The services, which were in charge of Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, began with the singing of the hymn, "Prayer for Light." This was followed by scripture reading on the part of the pastor, who also read Tennyson's beautiful poem, "Crossing the Bar."

Rev. Mr. Jaynes then offered prayer after which "Abide With Me," was sung by the congregation. Services conducted according to the G. A. R. ritual followed, and were in charge of Commander C. S. Ober, Rev. B. F. McDaniel and Mr. H. D. Degen of the post. They consisted of brief words of eulogy and the placing of three wreaths upon the coffin. The congregation sang "Abide With Me" and the body was taken forward from the church. As it passed down the front steps the bugler sounded "taps."

The body bearers were eight sailors, and the honorary bearers were Rear Admiral George K. Belknap, U. S. N., retired, Rear Admiral Luce, U. S. N., Rear Admiral Mortimer L. Johnson, commandant of the Charlestown navy yard, Rear Admiral Wadleigh, Rear Admiral N. Mayo Dyer, Commander E. K. Moore, chief of the equipment department of the Charlestown navy yard, Capt. Henry W. Lyon, commanding the Olympia and Mr. James Parker, counsel of Rear Admiral Schley.

Representing the Loyal Legion were Rear Admiral Barker, Maj. Seth A. Ranlett, Col. I. F. Kingsbury, Capt. Howard, Capt. Wilson, Capt. May and Capt. Roberts. Among the profusion of floral tributes was an offering from the U. S. S. Alliance of which Ensign Victor Kimberly is an officer. Private citizens as well as men of the navy, sent handsome tokens of their esteem and deep regret.

After the cortege had been formed it moved on its way to Mt. Auburn. Relatives and immediate friends, with bearers, accompanied the body to the crematory.

After the incineration the ashes will be placed in the family lot at the Newton cemetery.

Chandler Seaver.

Chandler Seaver, formerly a well known photographer of West Newton died last Sunday in Hyannis after a brief illness, aged 76 years. Mr. Seaver was a native of Colerain, Mass., but for more than a score of years conducted a photograph gallery on Washington street and later on Chestnut street, West Newton. He removed to Hyannis in 1896. Mr. Seaver was a widower. The body was brought to this city and funeral services held at 3.30 p. m. Wednesday in the memorial chapel of the Newton cemetery. Rev. H. J. Patrick of Newtonville officiated. The interment was in the Newton cemetery.

Mrs. Harriet L. Strong.

Mrs. Harriet L. Strong, wife of Rev. Edward Strong, died Tuesday at the family residence on Central street, Auburndale. Death was due to heart disease. Mrs. Strong had resided in this city for fully 50 years and had a wide circle of friends, by whom she was much beloved. Her husband, three daughters and a son survive her. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 2 at the house, Rev. Calvin Cutler and Rev. C. M. Southgate officiating. The burial was in the Newton cemetery.

Albert A. Bradford.

Albert A. Bradford died yesterday morning at his home on Williams street, aged about 54 years. Mr. Bradford was formerly overseer in the Nonantum Worsted mills and made his home on Bridge street. He was held in high esteem. As a veteran of the civil war he held a brave record. He belonged to Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R. His wife and daughter survive him.

Funeral services will be held from the chapel at Newton cemetery Sunday at 1 p. m.

William D. Merrill.

William D. Merrill died at an early hour this morning in Newton Lower Falls aged 76 years. He was a carpenter. He had a very creditable record in the civil war as a corporal in Co. 7, 17th Maine volunteers. He was a widower.

Republican Club Dinner.

The Republican Club of Ward 7 deserve considerable credit for their enterprise in starting, with so much success, the movement for a social gathering of Republicans in the city. The dinner last night at the Newton Club was most enjoyable from both a social and gastronomic point of view.

President W. F. Garcelon was toastmaster, and the speeches of Mayor Weeks, Senator Skinner, Representatives Bullard and Dana, and Messrs. C. E. Hatfield, E. O. Childs and Col. Farquhar were most interesting. The records of the last meeting of the club read by Secretary Howard Whitmore, and the menu in the form of an official ballot were very clever.

Mr. A. J. George, A. M., lectured on "Oxford and Oxford Life" on Friday evening in the assembly hall of the school. The proceeds of the lecture were to assist the athletic association. Mr. George brought out the two important facts, that an English youth goes to college not to learn as here in America, but to train himself for his future work, and also that in an English boy's education there is no such thing as studying but reading as it is called there. Through the kindness of Mr. Saville the lecture was most beautifully illustrated by some 90 odd slides, showing the university buildings.

B. K. Stephenson '02, H. Cheney '02, C. Vinal '02, and C. Russell '03, have entered the B. A. A. indoor track meet to be held on tomorrow afternoon. Stephenson, Vinal and Cheney have entered the 40 yard dash and Russell has entered the 440 yard run.

HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE.

Its Gratifying Condition Pleases All.

Annual Meeting of the Corporation Held.

There were many gratifying indications of the excellent maintenance of the Newton home for aged people at Newton Upper Falls at the annual meeting of that corporation held last Saturday afternoon at 4 in the parlors of the home. Pres. Henry E. Cobb presided and more than a score of corporation members were present. Reports of the officers, including that of the matron, were read and accepted.

The corporation then chose these officers: Henry E. Cobb, president; Joseph Byers, vice-president; Marcus Morton, treasurer; Edward H. Mason, clerk; Mrs. Mary C. Evans, matron; Lewis H. Bacon, Joseph Byers, Henry R. Cobb, Calvert Cray, George H. Ellis, Frank Fanning, Mrs. Ellen P. Kimball, Mrs. Mary R. Martin, E. H. Mason, Albert Metcalf, Mrs. J. C. Melvin, Marcus Morton, Edward L. Pickard, Miss Abby Spear and Edgar W. Warren, directors.

Joseph Byers, Frank Fanning, E. W. Warren, Mrs. J. C. Melvin, and Miss Abby Spear constitute the executive committee; Mrs. Mary R. Martin, Miss Abby Spear, Mrs. Ellen Kimball, Albert Metcalf and Lewis H. Bacon, the committee on admission; and H. E. Cobb, E. L. Pickard and Marcus Morton the finance committee.

The following will prove of interest to graphic readers:

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE'S REPORT.

The executive committee of the Newton home for aged people here-with submit their third annual report of the management of the home during the year. We have held twelve regular meetings, when all bills have been examined, approved and other matters of interest discussed and acted upon. An official record of these meetings has been kept by the clerk of the committee. The visiting of the inmates by members of the committee has been faithfully kept up, so that the members thereof have been kept in close touch with the inmates. A few days after our annual meeting, Miss Harriett Parker was taken seriously ill, everything was done for her that could be, but she lived only a day or two, and died Feb. 12th. The funeral was held at the home and she was buried at Forest Hills. She had been an inmate of the home a little more than a year, with her sister occupied in the large Converse room. On May 16th Mrs. Hannah Pierce, while preparing to spend the day with friends, dropped to the floor in her room, and before aid could reach her, she expired. The funeral was at the home and the burial at Mt. Hope. Mrs. Pierce shared with her sister the double Melvin room. Mr. Colburn, who as undertaker, officiated at both of these funerals, is entitled to our thanks for his services freely rendered. The death of these two inmates, the first in the home, has brought us face to face with what we may expect at almost any time in a family of 12 or 15 people as old as most of the inmates are. It has brought also the question of the possibilities of getting two elderly ladies, who had no family ties, and little or no acquaintance with each other to room together. A change about of the men in the home made it possible to divide the Wilder room in the centre, thus making two rooms. It was found also that the Melvin room could be divided. No new beds or bedding would be required, a few pieces of furniture only would be needed. The matter was fully discussed, and a consultation with the home trustees was had and their assent obtained. The work was then started and soon completed. Miss Sarah Parker, who was left alone in the Converse room, decided to take one of the new and smaller rooms, so as to be by herself. Miss Harriett Bacon, who was left alone in the Melvin room, kept one of the rooms into which it was divided. The other Wilder room is occupied by Miss Elizabeth Webster, who entered the home, Aug. 1901. The other Melvin room is occupied by Mrs. Rebecca Crossley, who entered the home Jan. 1902. There are now in the home 13 inmates 10 women and 3 men. Two have died, two have been admitted and one by unanimous vote of the directors was dismissed. Applications are coming in every little while, but as there are no vacant rooms, except the large Converse room, and which does not readily admit of division, the application, if taken by the committee, can only be placed on file in the order received if it were possible for us with our beautiful situation and ample grounds to enlarge our house the benevolent purposes for which the home was established, might be greatly extended and hearts made glad that look forward into the future with gloomy forebodings. It was thought best by the committee to keep the home, and a house has been made for their accommodation, and we hope by another year to be able to give a good report for the outlay on this account. The report of the matron has been handed into the committee, and we copy briefly such parts of it as we believe will be of interest to the directors. The total expenses of the maintenance of the home are $3712.82, divided as follows:

Domestic service, $1457.00
Tobacco, $192.37
Matron's petty account, $27.69
Ins. on furniture, $24.00
Hay, $24.44
Expenses, $83.64
Express, $25.50
Drugs and medicines, $28.29
Carpenter, $71.62

The south hand was played by I. A. Constantine, now postmaster at Aurora. At that time the rule of leading from five trumps was regarded as something almost sacred. Players were not then familiar with the coup.

We are indebted to the proprietors of the following papers for copies from the office: The Boston Daily Herald, the Newton Graphic, the Newton Circuit, Youth's Companion and from friends as follows: Boston Transcript, Century Magazine, Outlook Magazine, Watchman, Zion's Herald, Life and Light, Christian Herald. For these favors greatly appreciated we tender our most grateful thanks.

Other gifts have come to us: Pictures from friends in Rome; birthday cake, mince pies and tarts; material for sale from Boston; cash from friends for sale; ladies' garments; gentlemen's garments; refreshments for reception in May; quilts; plants; stationery, books; Christmas gifts from friends for each inmate, such in brief is the record of the home for the year. Each member of the committee has done what they could for the comfort and happiness of the inmates, and we have thus supplemented the faithful and painstaking services of our matron. I desire personally to thank each one for their helpful services thus rendered. If the benevolent founder of the home could look in upon it now with its 13 inmates happy and freed from doubt as to their future welfare, we are sure he would say that the object he had in view was fully realized. May our Heavenly Father comfort the sorrowing and give bright hope and cheer to all as the shadows of life shorten and the days go by.

Something That Will Do You Good

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup. —Camden, (S. C.) Messenger. For sale by all druggists.

Whist.

The first whist match ever played! However, the mind need not travel back over several hundred years, to what Dr. Pole calls the "primitive era" of the game. There may possibly have been contests for supremacy at straight whist between rival organizations in those days, but modern players would not consider them as being or having been, matches unless the cards held by each side were precisely equal in value.

The first real match was played about fifteen years ago, at the Commercial Hotel of this city, between the Chicago Duplicate Whist club, the first duplicate club in existence, and the Aurora "All-Star" club, consisting of twelve players only, selected as the best in that famous little whist center.

Whist trays were as yet unknown, and, instead, Mitchell's cards were used—the first device invented for playing in duplicate. These cards were prepared for the four suits, and the player recorded each card as he played it. The cards were gathered in tricks at straight whist, and at the close of the deal the score was recorded, after which each player picked out the cards, which had composed his hand. The number of deals which could be played in a given time was naturally quite limited.

At the conclusion of the match the Chicago players seemed to have won handsily, except for the tremendous scores made by one of the Aurora teams on a single deal, which gave the All-Star aggregation a lead of one trick. The correctness of the score was questioned and the deal re-played. A warm discussion then ensued as to the merits of the opening lead by Constantine, which lead was mainly responsible for the heavy gain of Aurora, and it was agreed by all the other players, on both sides, that his play was wrong, and the resultant gain merely a bit of undeserved luck, and the Aurora players, though jubilant, were willing to admit that they won on a fluke.

The deal as played by Aurora is given below.

Club Jack turned in east hand.

The play:

TRICKS	North	East	South	West
1	6	Q	J	9
2	2	3	7	8
3	2	K	7	5
4	6	A	5	5
5	6	Q	4	4
6	7	3	A	8
7	7	4	10	8
8	6	5	10	9
9	6	5	8	9
10	10	7	4	3
11	10	J	10	7
12	4	J	8	4
13	4	K	A	Q

Score—N. and S. 11.
The south hand was played by I. A. Constantine, now postmaster at Aurora. At that time the rule of leading from five trumps was regarded as something almost sacred. Players were not then familiar with the coup.

Know the rules and when to break 'em; Know the laws and never forsake them; but they were broken in this instance to good purpose. In these days a player holding such a hand would be regarded as taking desperate chances.

who took three rounds of trumps without ascertaining before hand something in regard to the disposition of the remaining aces. The return of the spade at trick 2, by east, was rather curious, but it is possible that he expected to ruff his partner. At trick 5 Messenger, who played south for Aurora, made a really excellent play in starting the trumps. He can now read his partner's suit as entirely established, and it is certainly better to try for that and risk the possible loss of one trick in ruffing the heart. Had Constantine led the diamonds at trick 8, instead of at trick 12, they might have gained seven on the deal instead of six.

The north hand for Chicago was played by Paul Clayton, who has since been Captain of the team representing the Hamilton club of Philadelphia. At that table the play was as follows:

TRICKS	North	East	South	West
1	2	J	A	4
2	3	10	K	5
3	6	9	Q	3
4	6	3	7	9
5	4	10	6	8
6	4	2	2	4
7	2	5	7	4
8	3	A	J	K
9	4	J	8	9
10	4	7	10	7
11	10	A	4	8
12	10	J	5	Q
13	10	K	6	Q

Score—N. and S. 5.
All the trumps but two were exhausted as a starter, after which the spade suit was attempted. North might have saved one trick and tied the match by playing the king of diamonds at trick five. After that there was no opportunity for north and south to make any tricks, except with their remaining trumps. The deal is a good object lesson even now.

The Twentieth Century.

The advent of the new century is to be commemorated by the Newton Graphic in the publication of a handsome bound volume, entitled, "Newton, The Garden City of the Commonwealth, 1674-1901." It will contain valuable and interesting historical matter, fully illustrated, and will tell of leading events, characters and progress of the city, and the many advantages of Newton as a beautiful and desirable place of residence will be fully shown. The volume will also contain the portraits and biographies of representative men who, in their lives, their work or their influence have made Newton of to-day the garden city of the Commonwealth and of New England.

It is believed that such a work will commend itself to the citizens of Newton as bringing together a carefully collated record of the lives of men who have contributed to the welfare of our city; men of whom we are justly proud as educators, lawyers, physicians, clergymen and men of affairs.

Such a publication at this time will give to the present, an up to date account of the city and will bequeath to the future a legacy of what Newton was at the beginning of what promises to be a most remarkable century. Copies of the book will be sent to the prominent institutions of learning, libraries and clubs of New England and New York.

BEST SUGAR INDUSTRY

COMES TO THE FRONT.

Utah with three sugar refineries increased her output 80 per cent. for 1901. This is the greatest gain in any line of industry in the state. Her sugar product amounted to 1,250,000, this being the first season for the Logan Factory. The market value of these stocks show from 80 to 200 per cent profit.
Utah Beets contain 10-10 sugar, 75.3 purity. Idaho Beets contain 16.8 sugar, 80.7 purity. The Idaho Beet Sugar Company will plant 2,000 acres in Utah 1902. The company owns 5,000 acres and holds options on 4,000 more. It owns the Township of Mountain on the Union Pacific R. R. of 320 acres. We are offering for allotment 2,000 shares of stock preferred to the extent of 7 per cent, after which it shares equally with the common stock at par $100. Capital $300,000. Presuming this stock to do as well as other sugar have done in California, Colorado, Utah, Iowa, Michigan, they will net for $200 to $300 per share in two or three years. ## BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Tremont Theatre—The Tremont Theatre in Boston is to have another comic opera success beginning February 10, and it is believed the engagement will prove one of the most interesting of the year. The new opera is entitled "King Dodo," by the authors of "The Burgomaster." The record breaking run of this late product of the combined intellects of Frank Pixley and Gustave Luders in Chicago, is probably familiar to all classes of theatre-goers, as well as to newspaper readers in general. The piece had its initial production in Chicago, Monday evening, May 27, and so firm a hold did it obtain upon the affections of the residents of the Windy City, that the engagement was continued from time to time, and eventually prolonged, with uninterrupted success, for five straight months, closing Saturday evening, Oct. 5. It is believed that no such proud record can be credited to a theatrical offering of any description of late years, and the diverting features of "King Dodo" must therefore be many and most entertaining. The original organizations will be brought to Boston in its entirety, including as it does, a magnificent orchestra of specially selected soloists, which latter announcement alone should be the source of much gratification to theatre-goers. The scenes of the play are laid in no place in particular, but have been given a semi-tropical setting of a very elaborate description, and it is said that each of the three acts discloses many pictures of surpassing beauty. Particular stress is also laid upon the magnificent costume display, it being asserted that no less than 300 separate and distinct dresses of beautiful design are shown during the performance. The lyrics, of which there are some twenty-five, nearly all possess that swinging, wholesome characteristic so entrancing to lovers of music, and the dialogue is said to fairly bristle with witticisms of the most laugh-provoking quality. The company is an unusually large one and embraces a number of well-known and popular exponents of comic opera.

REV MR SMART HERE

OCCUPIED PULPIT OF NEWTON HIGHLANDS CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH LAST SUNDAY AS PASTOR OF THAT SOCIETY.

The Rev. George T. Smart of Manchester, Vt., who has recently accepted a call to the Congregational church of Newton Highlands, occupied the pulpit of that church last Sunday morning for the first time as its pastor.

In spite of the disagreeable weather he was greeted by a large number of his new parishioners, who accorded him a most cordial welcome.

His text was from Cor. II, 12-1: "I must needs glory, though it is not expedient; but I will come to visions and revelations of the Lord."

He said, "Paul, the Apostle is the truest Humanist, not because he loves the externals of learning; but because he delights in experience and its meaning. And of this he had two orders when generally men only have one,—the order of the inner life as he broke from dogmatic authority, and the order of a singularly eventful career. From these experiences he learned much. The inner struggle made him sympathetic with men; the outer events furnished material for glory."

"Glory was a characteristic of Hebrew life even in its shame; but Paul was more than a Hebrew. As a Christian he refrained from glorying, though his life made him a wonder. He simply notes it as a mark of God's providence and moves on to advanced positions."

"One of these was vision. And here he grows modern, as the Old Testament prophets grow modern. Darnestates was right in saying they were to have the vision of the boulevard. And vision with Paul meant an unlimited church, and word-wide sympathy."

But he comes also to revelation, which is one stage further. On the whole it may be set down as vision plus personality. Revelation always comes through personality. Generally it is vision applied to life."

What does this mean to men if they accept the doctrine of Paul? They need not flee from experience,—in a scientific age they cannot,—they can keep it in mind as a mark of God's providence; but they can move on to vision. Then comes the Christian thought of the world and life as a becoming world and not a (queer) one, with many new interpretations resulting, as well as new powers and delights. And as they take the further step of coming to revelation,—applying vision to life,—they no longer have the sting of maturity in feeling that the best things were determined are far behind us. Above all they miss the tragic experience of seeing the fair face of the Christ and then going back to the prodigal's life."

THIN PEOPLE.

We Advocate Vinol As a Means To Regain Normal Weight.

A decline weight generally foretells a serious illness.

Take our advice and keep an eye on your weight. If you find it falling off, take our advice again and take VINOL.

The reason we recommend VINOL is that we know what it contains. We have investigated its merits. We thoroughly endorse this great tonic re-builder.

So sure are we of the satisfaction it will give that we unhesitatingly offer to refund the cost of VINOL to anyone who is not satisfied with the results obtained by its use.

Please read the letter that we print herewith, that bears on the subject and which we know will interest you. It comes from Mrs. W. B. Jenner of Lakewood, New York.

"My normal weight is 175 lbs. When I began taking VINOL I weighed not over 100 lbs. Everyone thought I was going to die with consumption. As a last resort I decided to try VINOL and, to the astonishment of all, I began at once to get better. I have taken in all not over two bottles as yet, but have gained in flesh over twenty pounds and more than that in strength."

Please call on us and let us tell you more about what VINOL will do.

Letter to E. N. Soules,

Newton.

Dear Sir: When you build a house you want a good paint next the wood—it goes a long way in taking care of the wood. The paint that has the best chance to be useful is the first coat; first two coats; first three coats. The first takes care of the wood; the second takes care of the first; the third takes care of the two. All three become one; and that one is to last forever. "Forever" means as long as the house lasts. The way to make the first painting last, as long as the house is, is to follow it up with repainting often enough.
How often? Depends on the paint. Repaint while the paint is still waterproof. All the wear is outside; there is no wear on the under paint. This is how the first painting lasts forever; by keeping it covered; keeping it sound. And this is the cheapest way to take care of a house. But how often to paint depends on your paint. If you paint lead and oil, paint again in three years or less; if Devco lead and zinc, paint again in three years or more.
That "less" and "more" are about as one to two. Devco lead and zinc takes care of a house at half cost, because it lasts twice as long as lead and oil.
Yours truly,
F. W. Devco & Co.
P. S. J. M. Briggs & Son sell our paint.

Mrs. Ruggles Concert.

The third concert in the series given by Mrs. May Sleeper Ruggles took place on Wednesday evening at the Hunnewell Club House.

The program was rendered by the pupils of Mrs. Ruggles, assisted by the Newton Centre Orchestral Club, 14 members. Mr. Kaurek leader.
Fine soprano, mezzo-soprano, contralto and voices were heard in the vocal selections rendered, showing careful training of a teacher with a method of a very high order. The pleasing attack, expression and execution were admirable. Among so many singers of promise, it is not necessary to mention those of special excellence.

Mrs. Ruggles supplied the place of Miss Berry in the trio, and a few numbers were omitted on account of sickness. The length of program prevented responding to the encores, with exception of Miss Greene, who sang a second number in answer to an encore. Miss Trowbridge's violin obligato added much to the effectiveness of the songs. The hall was well filled.
The last entertainment of the course will be given Feb. 19, consisting of a lecture, "How to understand music," by Prof. L. E. Stanton, illustrated by Mrs. Ruggles.

Street Railway Matters.

Supt. F. G. L. Henderson has resigned his position as superintendent of the Newton Street Railway Co. and is now engaged as assistant to President Claffin of the consolidated companies.

Superintendent Henderson has been in active service with the Newton company ever since its organization, Aug. 19, 1889, a period of nearly 13 years, and has seen its business grow from that of a small and insignificant company to one of the most prosperous of its size in the state.

Before entering the electric railway service, Superintendent Henderson was connected officially with the Boston & Albany R. R. in the operating and paymaster's departments, covering a period of about 15 years.

He resigned in 1882 and entered the publishing business, but after a few years, again returned to a railway life, which had attractions for him which he could not resist.

Supt. N. C. Smith of the Commonwealth Avenue Street Railway Co. has been appointed as acting superintendent of the Newton Co. in addition to his former duties.

About sixty of the old employees of the Newton Street Railway held a dinner in Waltham recently and presented Supt. F. G. L. Henderson with a handsome gold watch.

Newton Club.

The bowling last Friday night with Old Dorchester was quite a disappointment to those in the club who hoped for a three straight win. The first game was decidedly off, nearly every man falling far behind his average. Hutchinson then withdrew at his own request, and the old reliable John F. Scully took his place. John made two bad misses as a starter, but soon struck his game and was a tower of strength to the team. The last two games were walkovers for the home club, and Buntin made a total of over 600. Wellington was a close second with 595.

Hunnewell Club.

The Maugus Club of Wellesley was entertained on Wednesday evening at bowling, pool and whist. At bowling the home team rolled in hard luck and lost all three strings. The whist was a tie, and at pool Hunnewell won by two points.

Remember the next Assembly takes place Thursday evening, Feb. 20.

Words of Prats.

The following extract from a recent issue of the Winchester Press, written by a former resident of Newton, will have a peculiar interest to the friends of the movement to decorate the various school buildings in this city:

"A visit to a Newton school last Saturday by special courtesy brings that city to mind, the different wards of which reminded me so much of Winchester. Twenty-five years ago a goodly number of engravings were sent about to the different buildings there as a special act on the part of the school board, we think. The high school has always been in receipt of works of art as elsewhere illustrative of its studies. Within a few years, however, a great deal has been accomplished in all grades, by the ingenuity and enthusiasm of different neighborhoods. For instance, in one school, presumably in one of the wealthier wards, one thousand dollars represents what has been done to encourage a knowledge of and love for art.

Singularly enough, in point of merit and general effect, the school ranking next is in a locality that might be regarded the least wealthy.

The ways and means employed to bring about such a result in the latter case have been varied. A lecture or entertainment planned by the master, a lawn party given on school grounds by a former teacher, a whist party by the assistants, added now and again to the beautiful pictures, adorning the rooms. A notable collection from a public spirited woman for whose husband the school was named, helped wonderfully.

The Perry pictures are very much in evidence in this building visited, specimens of birds and bird pictures, with much material suggestive of nature study, the frozen yard garden, for instance, cabinets for minerals, little libraries of books placed invitingly here and there as well as piles of books from the public library, all these hints of work reminded one of our own school life here. Much care and system have been shown in the selection and hanging of the Newton pictures, many of which were of special importation. A clever scheme is the moving about through the rooms of the pictures, thus conferring equal benefit and pleasure finally.

Not long ago the parents were invited to meet the teachers and inspect the collection, placed for the time being in the hall. This proved to be a delightful social affair, held in a veritable picture gallery."

G. A. R. Notes

Chief Marshal Henry E. Cobb desires to express his thanks to the gentlemen of his staff.

G. A. R. FAIR.

Prosperous Close Last Saturday.

Much Interest in Results of Voting Contests.

The Grand Army carnival closed as it was opened under the most auspicious circumstances. A feeling of complete satisfaction pervaded Temple hall as the last hours of the week drew nigh. Patrons had had their desires satiated and the members of the post and the ladies who assisted them were content that their efforts brought such favorable results.

As a tribute to the post the success of the carnival was highly flattering. But the ladies too are to be given an equal share of the encomiums.

It is estimated that the fair has added very near $5,500 to the post's treasury. When all accounts have been completed and the last dollar turned over to the treasurer Charles Ward post may hold its head higher than ever among its brothers in the state.

Great interest was centered in the result of the voting and guessing contests. Expectations, keenly whetted by friendly rivalry, kept the friends of the interested ones on the alert and the winners have every reason to be grateful to their friends.

Chief Marshal Henry E. Cobb received the guest cake at the West Newton table.

Patrolman Otis W. Gray the revolver for the most popular police officer, 173 votes.

Dr. Putnam the whip for the most popular physician, 73 votes.

Mrs. Willard D. Tripp, president of the committee in charge of tables, the lamp, 328 votes.

To the Mason school was awarded the water color, 184 votes.

Rev. Richard T. Loring of Newtonville, the most popular pastor, a carving set, 153 votes.

Miss Nickelson, the most popular school teacher, an oil painting, 403 votes.

Alderman Walter Chesley, the most popular alderman, a silver service, 83 votes.

Letter-carrier Thomas L. Ryder of the Newton Upper Falls substation, morris chair, 148 votes.

The excellent supper served on Friday evening by the West Newton ladies was under the charge of Mrs. S. A. Langley.

Special notice should be given the very attractive feature of the Rebecca at the Well, of Miss Josephine Blanton and which netted about $50. The best guess at the number of seeds in the pumpkin was made by Mrs. W. Martin, who received the prize of a doll.

Something That Will Do You Good

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup. —Camden, (S. J.) ## Death of Samuel W. Leedom.

Mr. Samuel Winfield Leedom, secretary and auditor of the New England telephone and telegraph company, died of pneumonia at his residence 11 Willard street, this city, last Sunday morning, aged 50 years. Mr. Leedom had been ill but a week.

Born in Merion, Penn., a suburb of Philadelphia, Mr. Leedom came of Quaker stock. He was educated in the schools of Philadelphia and when a young man engaged in business. He was for a long time connected with the Reading coal and iron company and left that 11 years ago to accept the duties he was fulfilling at the time of his death.

He was not a member of any organizations. He was a strict adherent of the Quaker belief. His wife and son survive him. His father and mother reside in Philadelphia.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 there were services at the family residence in charge of Rev. William H. Davis, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Newton. Selections were given by the Apollo quartet. Among the large gathering of mourners were business associates of the departed, friends from his native place, Philadelphia and relatives who came from a distance.

Many beautiful floral tributes lay upon the coffin and included tokens from members of the family and business friends.

The pallbearers were Messrs. S. A. Richardson and Frederick Boynton representing the Bell Telephone Company, A. O. Wright representing the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, J. F. Henderson and David Wilson of Philadelphia, Henry Grimm of Orange, N. J., J. P. McCormick of Jersey City and Charles M. Brooks of Newton.

At the close of the services the body was taken to the Newton cemetery and placed in the receiving tomb there.

Mr. Wheeler Got Rid of His Rheumatism

"During the winter of 1898 I was lame so in my joints, in fact all over my body, that I could hardly hobble around, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. From the first application I began to get well, and was cured and have worked steadily all the year. —R. Wheeler, Northwood, N. Y. For sale by all druggists.

it will be esteemed by the planters of Ceylon if you will test their inimitable Bhud, Tiffin and Bungalow Teas quite different from all other Ceylon Teas. Bhud Tea was the favorite of the late Sir Wm. Jenner and Mr. Gladstone. Celebrated for its haunting fragrance and singular because it never produces nervousness, owing to the fact that it is grown on soil slightly impregnated with iron. Sold only in original airtight ¼ ½ and 1 lb. packages, like above package.

Ash Street School, Auburndale.

As is shown by the accompanying cut Newton is to have a handsome addition to its school buildings in the proposed structure on Ash street, Auburndale.

The main dimensions of the building are 130 ft. by 65 ft.

The building contains eight standard class rooms located on the south side of the building, two recitation rooms in the projecting wing at the right of the front, and a kindergarten class room with dressing room, and master's and teachers' rooms in the wing on the left. The assembly hall in the third story will seat 400 people on the floor and 30 on the stage, with dressing rooms and lavatories adjoining. The basement contains play-rooms for boys and girls, lavatories, and rooms for the heating plant. The class and recitation rooms are equipped with closets and cabinets for the storage of books and other supplies used in the schools.

The suite of rooms provided for the kindergarten and the master's and teachers' rooms are each provided with separate lavatories and ward-ropes.

The building is to be constructed of light brown mottled brick and Ohio sand stone and the roof is to be covered with black slate.

The plastering is applied on expanded metal lathing on all interior partitions and ceilings and on hollow brick lining on exterior walls.

All of the stairways are constructed of steel and cast iron with wearing surfaces of safety treads and asphalt. The walls of all rooms and corridors are wainscotted to a height of about 5 ft., and the entire inside finish is to be of Indiana ash.

Double sashes are used in the windows in the school rooms except those on the south side.

The floors in the basement are to be of granolithic or artificial stone and in the rooms and corridors of matched hard pine.

All walls and ceilings throughout are to be tinted with oil paint and the basement with water-proof paint.

Electric clocks will be located in all rooms and corridors, controlled by a self-winding master clock in the master's office.

The plumbing is to be done under the most modern and approved methods with hot and cold water to all sinks and bowls and with ventilating ducts from each fixture connected with the main ventilating flue.

The building will be warmed and ventilated by the gravity return system of steam heating, using two tubular boilers, and each room will have an auxiliary radiator with automatic control.

The cost of the building will be $62,000 including the grading and it will be completed about Jan. 1, 1903.

The architects are Bacon & Hill, of Boston, the contractor for the building is P. H. Jackson of Brockton, for the plumbing F. T. Burgess of West Newton, and for the heating Bradlee and Chatman of Boston.

ATTEMPTED KIDNAPPING?

CIRCUMSTANCES OF A CASE LAST SATURDAY LEAD POLICE TO BELIEVE SUCH MAY HAVE BEEN TRUE.

Last Saturday the police were called upon to investigate a case that had all the appearances of an attempt at kidnapping. Both the officials of this city and Watertown were busily engaged for several hours on the lookout for clues.

According to the facts Annie Burnell, an 11-year-old Watertown girl, started from her home in that place early Saturday morning for a store where she intended to purchase some milk.

Before she reached the store, it is said, she was accosted by a man who said he would like to have her aid him in locating a small girl who was missing.

The Burnell girl and the man walked from Watertown to Newton and were crossing a field near the corner of Jackson road and Pearl street, when the girl was recognized by a well-known Newton woman passing in her carriage.

As the latter spoke to the girl the man took to his heels. The little girl told her story of how she came to be in Newton. The woman drove to police station 1, Newton, and reported the affair.

Later the parents of the child were notified.

The man is described as about 35 years old, 5 feet 7 inches, wearing a red beard and a dark suit of clothes and overcoat.

The Burnells removed from Faxon street, Nonantum, to Watertown about four months ago.

State House Letter.

Boston, Feb. 12.

The next five or six weeks will see an immense number of committee hearings, while from day to day the sessions of the House and Senate will increase in length until by and by, with most of the matters of interest reported, the proceedings of the two branches will replace committee hearings as the matters of most importance.

Today the metropolitan affairs committee meets in joint session with the committee on election laws to consider questions in regard to the constitution of the Boston city government; one being for a change in the method of nomination and election of the Mayor; another a suggestion for an alderman at large; and a third, the consolidation of the Boston boards of aldermen and common council in a single board. On Friday the metropolitan committee sits again, to take up the question of damages caused by rebuilding Broadway bridge in Boston, and also a question of great interest to the Boston business men, (many of whom live in Newton and will be heard for or against the measure), for a direct level avenue between Fort Point Channel and the Charles River through the wholesale district, the bill providing for the extension of Broad street as this avenue. It seems as though the question of relieving the congestion in the Boston business district never would be satisfactorily settled. The millions of dollars which have been expended thus far in securing rapid transit through the construction of the subway, the building of an elevated railway, the great Charlestown bridge and widening the streets which approach that bridge, and the North Station, have thus far proved quite inadequate to meet the needs of the millions who come to Boston on business and pleasure every week. If President J. Richard Carter of the associated boards of trade and the other public spirited men who have joined with him in the efforts to suggest an adequate remedy for the situation in which business Boston stands, it is only success in hitting upon the right scheme, we shall be fortunate indeed. Of course, the serious trouble is that altogether too much business is crowded into a comparatively small space, and the gradual extension of the retail trade through Boylston and other streets into the Back Bay is a great help in the solution of some of these problems. The wholesale district, however, persists in staying just where it has been for so many years, and in order to relieve Washington and Devonshire streets it is absolutely necessary that a wide avenue, paved to accommodate heavy teaming, must be provided. Atlantic avenue helped the situation for many years, and one almost smiles now to look back to the days when the elder Josiah Quincy first proposed that Atlantic avenue should be constructed and the horror which his suggestion caused. The Josiah Quincys of today are represented in such men as Mr. Carter, who with prophetic eye scan the situation and seek to find a remedy for the serious congestion which exists and the more serious conditions which threaten.

Mayor Weeks has petitioned for an act changing the term of office of the mayor of the city of Newton to two years. As Newton usually re-elects her Mayor and always seems to get a man of high character and executive ability for the position, it would seem that there is a certain amount of wisdom in the suggestion that she follow the example of Medford and Boston, and have a two year term. As the bill petitioned for provides that the present Mayor shall hold office for the term for which he was elected and at the next annual election the Mayor shall be elected as provided in the foregoing amendment.

Mayor Weeks has also asked for legislation to provide that the board of assessors of Newton shall consist of the chairman and three assessors, the chairman to be appointed for the term of three years and the other assessors first appointed for the term of one, two and three years respectively, thereafter for three years, while assistant assessors shall be appointed for the term of one year each. The bill further provides that the term of office of the present assessors and assistant assessors shall terminate upon the first day of February 1903. It has to be presumed that the expression "shall be appointed" will be generally understood to refer to the Mayor, as the appointing power but doubtless if there is any possibility of misunderstanding, the bill when reported can be changed so as to make this point clear, or perhaps City Solicitor Slocum relies upon some provision of the charter that the Mayor shall make all appointments to cover the apparent omission.

Representative Dana, as chairman of the committee on insurance with Representative Bartlett, house chairman of the public service committee, joined in reporting the bill to transfer the powers and duties of the state fire marshal to the district police. The bill creates a new department of the district police to be called the fire marshal's department. All of the officers in the department are to hold office for a term of three years, and are to be appointed by the Governor, these officers being a deputy chief, (who is to have all the powers and duties heretofore conferred and imposed upon the state fire marshal, and the charge of the department under the direction of the chief,) and a chief aid, six additional aids, a clerk and a stenographer. The law, if enacted, is to take effect May 1st. There is no doubt whatever of the passage of the legislation.

As chairman of the insurance committee, Representative Dana has 21 bills and petitions referred to him, while undoubtedly a number of measures will result from the annual report of the insurance commissioner when it reaches the committee. There are, however, nothing like the amount of difficult problems which in past years have been before successive insurance committees.

As a member of the House judiciary committee, Mr. Dana has fourteen matters to consider, while as one of the joint judiciary committee he has eighty-eight.

Mr. Bullard, the chairman of the railroad committee, has thus far put twenty-two matters in his docket. The railroad measures, however, are all of them of considerable importance, and undoubtedly the committee will have plenty to do before the session ends. Today, the committee sits jointly with the street railway committee on the Governor's recommendation that a part of the expense of abolishing the expense of grade crossings shall be paid by street railways, a matter upon which Mr. William H. Coolidge of your city has already addressed them at a previous hearing, pointing out the importance of the changes recommended. Tomorrow the question of compulsory issuance of monthly tickets at the same proportionate rate as is now charged for three months' tickets will be heard by the committee. The question of a new union passenger station in Worcester will come up later, as will as that of additional facilities for handling railroad freight in Boston, five cent fares within five miles of both terminal stations in Boston and other important measures in the railroad committee's docket. ## Washington Letter.

In an interview which Senator Orville H. Platt granted to your correspondent yesterday, in the Marble Room of the Senate, he confirmed the rumor that he is favorably disposed towards the President's wish to grant reciprocal concessions to Cuba, in the following language: "I am a thorough believer in the doctrine of protection and have so warmly advocated it as to have been charged with being a partisan; I am in favor of granting certain concessions to Cuba in return for similar concessions from the island. I believe that such concessions can be granted without serious detriment to American industries and with material benefit to American foreign markets. The granting of reasonable concessions would, in my opinion, greatly benefit the trade of both countries. Without receding one iota from my position as a sincere protectionist, I believe that at the present time protection is in danger of greater injury from its friends who hold out for immoderate and unnecessary duties than from the open advocates of free trade." The Senator refused to go into further details in regard to the policy to be pursued in dealing with Cuba, but his position as chairman of the Senate committee on Relations with Cuba makes his statement a sufficient guarantee of the position which the Senate will adopt in regard to the matter.

There is no doubt that the majority of the House committee on Ways and Means is opposed to granting any concessions to Cuba, nevertheless the knowledge that the Senate is sure to do so may serve to induce the leaders in the House to take some such action rather than permit the Senate to overrule its decision and take the initiative in so important a matter. Judge Page Morris of Minnesota has, however, formulated a plan for granting the necessary relief to Cuba which is commanding unusual attention from the members of the House, and which he believes will meet all the demands of the President and at the same time avoid the danger to the best sugar interests which might result from a straight reduction of 25 per cent. on raw Cuban sugar.

Speaking on the subject yesterday, Judge Morris said, "My bill is intended to obviate the difficulties which have seemed inevitable if we accept either horn of the dilemma. It deals only with the sugar problem which seems to me the most important. Its chief provision is an increase of the duty on raw sugar, 96 degrees proof, from 1.685 to 1.844 cents a pound, accompanied by a rebate to be paid to the Cuban planters of 33.3 per cent. This would, in my judgment, divide the burden of relief to Cuba between the whole people and the refiners, or in other words the Sugar Trust. It would mean a slight increase in the cost to consumers, but only a slight one, and the balance would be paid by the Trust. I figure that the increase of duty would result in an increase of revenue from sugar duties of about $5,000,000, one half of which we would return to the Cuban planters. I think that quite possibly this arrangement ought to be made only temporarily, say for two years, as that would be long enough to tide the Cubans over their present difficulties and give them a good financial start."

From a careful canvass of the members of the Ways and Means committee I believe I am safe in saying that the greatest obstacle to action favorable to the President's wishes in regard to Cuba is Representative Babcock of Wisconsin and his following who, it is feared by the committee, would set upon any measure looking to reciprocity with Cuba as a vehicle to which to attach amendments which would be in the nature of a tariff revision. Mr. Babcock attempted to do this in committee and lost by a narrow majority and he asserts that he will make the attempt again on the floor of the House. If the leaders can perfect a rule which will obviate this danger there is every reason to expect that the committee will report a reciprocal measure in the near future.

In the Senate this week some exciting scenes occurred during the consideration of the Philippines bill which has not yet been passed. The democrats taking the ground that the measure is a sanction of "imperialism" are contesting it at every point and delivering long harangues which it is said they hope will stand as a basis for the next campaign. So violent and unreasonable have been some of their protestations that Senator Foraker recently felt called upon to inform Senator Tillman that if it were not for his immunity as a United States Senator he would be indictable under the law against treason. As a matter of fact the democratic course is open to the severest condemnation. The insurgents are, according to Judge Taft's testimony before the Philippine committee, little more than brigands and the democrats are pursuing a systematic course of encouragement of an enemy in open revolt against the authority of this government. Nothing more unpatriotic could be imagined than the course of the democratic side of the Senate at a time when their cheerful acquiescence would result in the immediate end of the strife and perhaps save the lives of hundreds of American boys who are fighting in support of their country and their flag.

When you want a physic that is mild and gentle, easy to take and pleasant in effect use Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price, 25 cents. Samples free. Every box guaranteed. For sale by all druggists.

A special vesper service will be held at Channing church next Sunday afternoon at 4.30. Hudson will give a short address to young people.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

WEST NEWTON DOMESTIC REMOVED JUST IN TIME FROM CLOSET WHERE FIRE SURROUNDED HER.

A domestic employed by Mrs. W. H. Leatherbee of 29 Hillside avenue, West Newton, narrowly escaped being burned to death shortly after 6 last Friday evening. To Joshua S. Roberts, a West Newton expressman, and an assistant employed by him, the young woman owes her life.

About 6.20 the young woman had occasion to enter a small closet in search of a kitchen utensil. The gas fixture at the further end of the closet failed to work automatically, and the young woman used a piece of lighted paper.

She threw it on the floor and its flame came in contact with a quantity of kerosene that had leaked from a barrel. In an instant the closet was in flames.

The young woman's cries were heard by Mr. Roberts and his helper who were delivering a bundle at the Leatherbee house at the time. Realizing that there was no other means of egress, the men dashed through the flames, which had attained alarming proportions, and dragged the young woman from the closet. The trio suffered a severe scorching, but were not seriously injured.

Considerable of the woodwork in the closet and adjoining room was burned but the blaze was pretty well extinguished before the arrival of the firemen, who responded on a still alarm.

Mr. Gilman Dissents.

Hon. Gorham D. Gilman, for seven years consul general in Boston for the Hawaiian government, says that recent statements about the affairs in the Hawaiian Islands are not justified by facts. He claims the statement that Governor Dole of Hawaii, is not regarded as tactful, and that he is too self-assertive, and uncompromising in dealing with the natives is wrong, as Governor Dole is well liked by the natives.

Concerning the division of offices between Americans and natives, Mr. Gilman says: "Two recent appointees of Governor Dole, namely, W. H. Wright, treasurer, and E. S. Boyd, commissioner of public lands, are of native blood. The president of the Senate and the Speaker of the House are also natives, and the natives are well represented in the attorney general's department, among the district magistrates and in the militia and police." Mr. Gilman asserts that the kings of Hawaii rarely put natives in high office. Further, Mr. Gilman says that the opposition to Governor Dole is largely from Englishmen and Royalists, who are opposed to American ideals more than they are to the government of Hawaii. It is simply a case of the outs wanting to get in, and the best people of Hawaii favor the present government. Mr. Gilman agrees that the political affairs of Hawaii are unfortunate, but is certain that a change would be more unfortunate.

Lesh-McLellan.

Representative society people of the Newtons and neighboring places attended the wedding of Miss Grace Josephine McLellan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McLellan of Newton Centre, to Mr. Henry Frederick Lesh of the same place.

The ceremony was performed at 8 Tuesday evening in the First Congregational church of Newton Centre, Rev. Edward M. Noyes, the pastor, officiating. The edifice was handsomely decorated and completely filled with guests.

The bride was elaborately gowned in white satin with trimmings of rose point lace and rose passamenterie. She carried bride roses.

Miss Anna E. Sibley of Chelsea was maid-of-honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Kate W. Schreyer of Milton, Penn., Miss Grace M. Martin and Miss Ethel L. Sanborn of Chelsea, Miss Elsie B. Dyer of Morristown, Penn., Miss Hattie Kistler, Miss Maud Hammond and Miss Maud K. Lesh of Newton Centre, and Miss Kate Poppenhusen of College Point, N. Y.

The best man was Mr. Irving C. Paul of Newton Centre and the ushers were Mr. E. B. Bowen, Mr. Ralph McLellan, Mr. C. N. Fitz and Mr. H. G. Stephenson of Newton Centre, Mr. Edward K. Hall of Newtonville, Mr. Sedgwick Kistler of Lock Haven, Penn., Mr. Hector H. Havemeyer of New York, Mr. Walter H. Pulsifer of Newtonville and Dr. L. G. Paul of Boston.

There was a largely attended reception, from 8.30 to 10.30 at the home of the bride's parents on Centre street. Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Lesh were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Edward McLellan and Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lesh.

Following a wedding tour of twelve weeks in southern California Mr. and Mrs. Lesh will make their home in Newton Centre and be at home after Sept. 1 at their residence on Hancock avenue.

"Shut your eyes, open your mouth and see what luck will bring you."

The mother smiles at the childish game, and doesn't realize that it is a game she as a woman has perhaps played for a great many years.

Many a woman is weak and sick, nervous and discouraged. She suffers from headache, backache and other ills. She wants to be well, but all she does is to shut her eyes and open her mouth for medicine and trust to luck for results. She "doctors" month after month, often year after year, in this same blind, hap-hazard fashion, and receives no permanent benefit.

Women take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with their eyes open to the fact that it cures womanly ills. It cures irregularity. It dries debilitating drains. It heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. There is no trusting to luck by those who use "Favorite Prescription."

"My disease was displacement and ulceration of the uterus and I was in a terrible condition with pain and weakness and had given up all hopes of ever being well again," writes Mrs. Harry A. Brown, of Orono, Penobscot Co., Me. "I had doctored with four different doctors within four months, and instead of getting better was growing weaker all the time. I decided to try your 'Favorite Prescription.' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets' as I had heard of the many cures resulting from their use. I bought five bottles and felt so much better after taking them that I kept on until I am as well as ever in my life, and to Dr. Pierce all the praise is due. I cannot say enough in favor of his medicines. Before I began taking your medicines I only weighed one hundred and twenty pounds. I now weigh one hundred and sixty pounds. I gained forty pounds in six months. I shall doctor no more with home doctors, as it is only waste and money. I am now in perfect health, thanks to Dr. Pierce."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the muddy complexion.

THE LUCE BILL.

The scheme of direct nominations by primary elections introduced by Representative Luce, contains many meritorious features. Newton, which has adopted the so-called Boston Caucus Act, and refused to repeal such adoption ought to be hearty in favor of the new measure.The bill abolishes the caucus as it is known in cities and towns outside the pale of the Australian ballot, and substitutes a caucus very similar to that now in vogue in this city.Important exceptions are the extension of voting to the several precincts, and the provision for direct nominations for every office excepting for state officials. For these officers the delegate system is continued, the voter marking for several delegates at each precinct.It will thus be seen that the ballot will be both direct and delegate, an objection but not very serious.The primary election is for all parties, the voter declaring his choice as he enters the polling place. A very objectionable feature is that requiring new voters to declare their party preference at the time of registration under penalty of loss of right to vote at a primary. This provision is unjust unless every one is required to register over again.The chief objection to the bill however, will come from those cities and towns where the Boston caucus act is not in force, on the ground of expense. The cost of an election in this city is no small figure and when the additional expense entailed by the bill on poorer communities, is realized, its defeat is almost certain.It is perfectly true however, that the idea of direct nominations is popular and growing every day, and while the Luce bill is probably more radical than present public sentiment will stand, it will undoubtedly be the goal which will ultimately be reached.For the present, it would seem as if legislation authorizing such cities as have accepted the Boston caucus act, to make direct nominations under its provisions, would not only be a step in the right direction, but would educate the people to the value of the principle, and open the way to its final extension to state officers.

LOWER FARES.

Everyone should be prepared to back up the resolution recently adopted by the board of aldermen, requesting lower fares to Boston on the steam railroad. In his able address the Mayor pointed out the fact that the improvements of the last ten years have given the city, a sufficient plant in the way of streets, schools, sewers and parks to accommodate three times our present population, without a proportional increase in the cost of maintenance.The development of the city will add to its material wealth, and thereby reduce taxation.It is the duty, therefore, of every citizen to inform their business neighbors of the many advantages and attractions of Newton, and not half apologize for its seemingly high rate of taxation. We demand good government, good schools and good streets, and are willing to pay for them, but no one will seriously object to allowing new comers to help reduce the cost to the individual.The lowering of fares on the railroad will be a long step towards inducing the tide of home seekers to turn in our direction, and everyone from now on should place no obstacles in its way.

METROPOLITAN WATER.

We have heretofore commented upon the payment of annuities to the towns of Clinton and Sterling for consequential damages incurred by the construction of the Wachusett reservoir.A careful reading of the report of the committee to the legislature con-firms our former opinion that if any damages are deemed necessary, they should be paid in full, and not in the form of annuities.It may be of interest incidentally to state that in addition to the substantial annuity of $4000 to Clinton, that town receives already the benefit of sewerage disposal works, built and maintained by the Commonwealth, and when the great Wachusett dam is constituted, turbine wheels will generate 2000 to 3000 horse power of electricity to be utilized in the town.The great advantage to this entire region as a site for summer homes and made attractive by a beautiful body of water, such as the Wachusett reservoir will be, has not been considered by the legislative committee and is an important omission in our estimation.The selection of Master Chas. G.
Wetherbee of the Wade school by the City of Boston for a position in the Princeton school of that place is a most satisfactory solution of a problem which has vexed the school authorities for some years.Mr. Wetherbee's ability as a master has not been questioned, but his efforts to improve the school, and to establish harmony in its teaching force have been misunderstood by the community at large, causing endless irritation and discontent.The transfer to another field will be to the advantage of Mr. Wetherbee and will solve a much vexed question.A gratifying feature of the recent street railway consolidation is the abatement of the trouble over school tickets. Arrangements have been made to sell the tickets at the High school under the direction of the superintendent of schools.

City Hall Notes.

City Engineer Farnham was elected a vice president of the Mass. Highway Association at Young's Hotel, last Tuesday.Commissioner Elder reports that the diphtheria ward of the hospital will be ready for use about April 1st.The roof to the Thompsonville school house has been completed and the cellar is in for the new Mason school house.City Messenger Wellington has placed a new clock and a picture of the aldermen of 1901 in the committee rooms.Commissioner Elder received the following revised bids for the heating and ventilating of the new Mason school last Tuesday: A. B. Franklin $12,760; Bradley & Chatman, $13,798;
Lynch & Woodward, $14,390; A. A.
Sanborn, $14,976 and Smith & Anthony Co. $18,300.Mayor Weeks has been confined to the house for a few days with a slight illness.The method of receiving the Mayor when necessary to draw jurors, as inaugurated last week, is decidedly more dignified than before.Dr. Francis Geo. Curtis has been appointed a civil service examiner for Newton in place of Mr. Lucius G.
Pratt, resigned.Blake Bros. Co. advertise the City of Newton bonds in another column.

Death of Mr. D. R. Grant.

Mr. Daniel R. Grant died on Wednesday, Feb. 12, at the home of his niece, 72 Nevada street, Newtonville, after an illness of several weeks. He suffered from a complication of diseases, of which a valvular disease of the heart was chief.During the four years of his residence in Newtonville, Mr. Grant had endeared himself to a large circle of neighbors and friends, by his genial manner and kindly ways of speech.
He was born in Nova Scotia nearly 75 years ago and came when a young man to Boston, having lived since then either there or in the vicinity.
In early life he followed carpentry as a business and was a skilled and intelligent workman of the old school.
For several years he was sexton of the old Beach street Presbyterian church in Boston. Five married daughters survive their father.

P. O. Matters.

There has been considerable complaint for several years owing to the failure of the Boston and Albany railroad to deliver the early morning mail for New York on time. Postmaster Morgan, acting with the help of the superintendent of the railway mail service, New England division, has made arrangements to have mails for the north side of the city left at Riverside when connection cannot be made at South Framingham, thus assuring the delivery of New York and southern mail in the first morning delivery.

Among Women.

At the regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union a letter was read from the state president, Mrs. K. L. Stevenson stating that "The licensed innholders have renewed their attack of last year upon that restriction of our laws, which prevents the sale of intoxicating liquors between 11 p. m. and 6 a. m., Sundays as well as week days. The present bill of the Hotel Men's Association provides that hotel keepers may sell 'at any time.' The signal defeat of this measure last year was accomplished by thorough work on the part of religious and temperance forces. We can secure as great a victory this year if we begin at once. It is Senate Bill 128, but there are other bills looking to the same result. Will you ask your men to write to or interview your senator and representatives, remonstrating against this evil measure."The regular meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club was held Wednesday morning in Bray small hall.

noon, at the Newton Clubhouse for the purpose of increasing the chapter fund for patriotic work. About 175 ladies contributed by chapter members were especially attractive and were won by Mrs. F. C. Hinds, Miss Mabel Priest,

Mrs. Marshall O. Rice, Miss Chaffin,
Mrs. W. B. Rogerson, Mrs. Parker

Newton Choral Association.

The members and friends of the Newton Choral Association are rejoicing over the fact that Mrs. Lyta Kilecki Bradbury, soprano, Mr. J. C. Bartlett, tenor, and Mr. Frederic Martin, bass, have been secured for the concert of April 16. This trio of musicians is not likely to be surpassed and guarantees a magnificent rendering of "Joan of Arc."

Newton Teacher Honored.

The Boston school board last Tuesday evening elected Mr. Charles G.
Wetherbee, as submaster of the Princeton school of that city.Mr. Wetherbee's election was not laid over for one week as is the usual custom in such matters, and bears strong testimony to his reputation as a teacher.
Mr. Wetherbee has been the master of the Wade school, Newton Upper Falls for some years, and is highly regarded as an educator. He assumes his new duties next Monday.
When he came to Newton in 1892
the Wade school had but six rooms, today it has ten rooms and a corps of teachers not surpassed by any in our city.

Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Few people are aware of the extent of the Institution presided over by Dr. Pierce or that an important part of his medical enterprise was the establishment of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, where people from afar can be lodged, boarded and treated, with all the privileges offered by the finest hospitals, yet with a personal care and freedom entirely foreign to such institutions. Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute has a staff of nearly a score of physicians, each man a specialist. It has a bacteriological and analytical department second to those of no medical institution in the United States. It has elaborate machines and appliances, together with all the most approved mechanical apparatus, for the vibratory treatment of diseases. Of late particular attention has been drawn to the possibility of treating certain forms of disease, mechanically. Whole pages in the newspapers and magazines have been given up to the description and illustration of the mechanical devices in use, and the mechanical treatment of disease has been exploited as if it were a novelty. It may be to many people, but as an evidence of the advanced thought and progressive spirit of Dr. Pierce, it may be mentioned that many of these mechanical devices for the cure of disease have been in use in the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute for a score of years. In this, as in everything else, Dr. Pierce keeps his great Institution at the front, with the result that there is a constant stream of persons seeking treatment who come from the farthest states and most remote territories. Often these invalids have gone to the great hospitals of the country and found no benefit, coming to Dr. Pierce as a last resort. It is gratifying to know that the public faith in Dr. Pierce and his methods and medicines is amply justified by the many and remarkable cures which have resulted from his treatment. It may be well in this connection to emphasize the value of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter addressed especially to those suffering from chronic diseases. In a great many cases the advertised offers of "free medical advice" have behind them not a single medical practitioner qualified to give medical advice. It is only necessary to point to the medical staff of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute as evidence that Dr. Pierce's offer is genuine as it is free.

Prof. J. C. Stanton of Newton, subject, "How to listen to music," illustrated by piano solos and songs by Mrs. Ruggles. Prof. Stanton stated that some musicians in these days believe that melody in music is a thing of the past, and only close and complicated harmonies are effective and interesting. He showed very plainly that this is not the case, but that melodies exist in all compositions, even if irregular, and possibly unfamiliar. He explained the use of themes and sequences in the different voices, in sonata forms, and how to listen for their recurrence in the development of the music. His piano selections were from the works of Rheinberger, Schumann, Sinding, Schmitt, and embellished the subject matter of his interesting and instructive lecture. Mrs. Ruggles sang in her usual artistic style groups of songs by Schumann, Sinding, and Griegg, the fugue song by Sinding and songs by Grieg being especially fine. A fairly good sized audience was in attendance.

SNOW CAME SWIFT

While Deep It Fell With Many a Drift,

Local Tie-Up, Cars Blocked,
Many Kicks, Nature Mocked.

All those who calmly viewed the highly pleasing spring-like weather conditions of last Sunday and rejoiced that the backbone of winter had been broken, hastily concluded that they had another guess coming on Monday. The breakfast bell was its prelude and though for eight or ten hours previous the high winds had been capering about fantastically nobody had suspected anything.

The swiftness with which all manner of traffic was temporarily put out of business was enough of a shock to cause all patriots to forget that Prince Henry had started for this country and the anticipatory hospitable smiles gave way to blank amazement.

Beginning about 7.10 a. m. and continuing with unabated fury until late in the afternoon a snow storm, whose like has not been seen since the November gale of 1898 or the one in February 1899, piled eight solid inches of heavy, wet snow on helpless mother earth and made everybody groan for mercy.

Newton is as fortunate a city as exists in the world. Of course it does more than "exist" ordinarily, but the world is not misapplying in describing conditions last Monday.

STREET RAILWAYS.

It was a stiff, up-hill fight that the trans-city lines as well as those running to Boston, encountered. Like everything and everybody else they were totally unprepared for the big fall of snow. Their efforts, however, were creditable and more or less successful.

The Wellesley & Boston, between Nonantum square, Newton, and Newton Lower Falls made a brave fight in connection with the Newton street railway and happily cars were running with as much frequency as could be expected. Communication was not cut off between the villages on the north side nor with Waltham, via the main line.

The Newton & Boston between Needham and Watertown was considerably crippled as was the Newton Centre line. Occasional cars were run with the aid of plows and sand-cars but the travel was light and equally uncertain. A plow belonging to this company left the rails late in the afternoon near the Woodward street turnout, Newton Highlands and by its own weight was hurled over an embankment. There was no one hurt. This accident was in a measure responsible for the delay in clearing the tracks of the main line.

The Crafts street line, between the Waltham line at Calvary cemetery and Chestnut Hill was off its schedule but by late in the evening had restored things to normal conditions.

The Commonwealth avenue line was in good shape, all things considered, and lost but little time. The same was true of the Newton street railway cars between Auburndale square and Waltham.

The new Lexington line from Nonantum square, Newton, to Waltham, by way of Bemis and Nonantum, braved the heavy drifts for a time but was crippled throughout the evening.
By all night work, which continued until after 1 a. m. Tuesday, all lines were in good running shape and travelers had no complaints.

The Boston Elevated did exceptionally well by the patrons of its Brighton and Cottage Farm line and barring an accident in the evening at Cottage Farm very little fault could be found.

The Cambridge and Mt. Auburn line was not quite so successful though there were enough cars that came sufficiently frequent to accommodate patrons.

DARKNESS REIGNED

throughout the city Monday night.
This was due to the breaking of wires that failed to resist the weight of the snow. Several circuits were shut off as a precautionary measure and others in order that repairs might be made. The damage was not as severe as might have been expected although line-men were very busy and had their hands full. The police and fire alarm signal service suffered to some extent.

STREETS SNOWBOUND.

Although the streets were snowbound they were by no means impassable. Strenuous efforts on the part of the street department gave pedestrians good footing and made travel comparatively easy for vehicles. The work of removing the snow covered several days.

THE BOSTON & ALBANY
stood by its schedule in such a way that no criticism was provoked. The delays were trifling and none of them extended more than twenty minutes.
Its plows were active and gave the elements no chance to steal a march on them.

MAILS ALL RIGHT.

There was no kick coming so far as the mails and their delivery were concerned. Some of them arrived late but were but little hampered. The noon deliveries Monday were shortened but the late afternoon trips were made by the carriers with good progress.

FIRE, AT NEWTON CENTRE.

At 12.40 Tuesday morning an alarm was rung in from box 7 for a serious blaze in the dwelling at 10 Bracland avenue, Newton Centre, owned by Mellen Bray, and occupied by F. A.
Sauderson. The blaze, which was caused by an overturned lamp, was confined to the upper part of the house. The damage is estimated at $1000.

COMPARED.

Washington and Lincoln's Noble Lives.

Rev. Mr. Hudson's Address at Channing Vespers.

The vesper service at Channing church last Sunday called out a large and representative congregation of Newton people, as well as some visitors from Cambridge and Boston.

The subject of Mr. Hudson's address, "A Comparison of Washington and Lincoln," was especially timely coming as it did just between the birthday anniversaries of these two great men.

Mr. Hudson spoke of the wide diversity in the origin of the two men, and of the striking similarity in the development of their careers. This result he ascribed to the fact that the underlying source of power in the life of each was their fine sense of "loyalty to the highest."

To each the great temptation of his life came in the line of his greatest strength, and with ample justification from any ordinary point of view of moral obligation. The speaker then showed in detail the possibilities which presented itself to Washington at the close of the French Revolution to make for himself a world record as a military leader.

Mr. Hudson closed with a stirring appeal to young men to let the lesson of these lives impel them to cultivate the same sense of loyalty to the highest in meeting the needs and responsibilities of our own time.

Washington Letter.

The past week in Congress might be described as "preliminary week" as it was devoted to preparation for the important bills which are, according to the program, to be voted upon this week. Today the House of Representatives will take up the bill reported by the Ways and Means Committee abolishing the war revenue taxes.

The Ways and Means Committee will today take up the question of affording relief to Cuba by reciprocity or other means. There is a wide diversity of opinion as to the advisability of such a measure and as to the means to be employed, if it is determined that something must be done. No amount of questioning from Chairman Payne, whom I saw this morning, secured any further information than that the Committee would try and determine some means of meeting the President's wishes without injury to any American industry.

Representative Samuel D. Woods of California, speaking on this subject, tells me that he considers the position of the President a most erroneous one and that he is confident that, had the President had the time and the opportunity to listen to the testimony before the Ways and Means Committee on the subject, he would have changed his position. "The republican party," said Mr. Woods, "is pledged by its national platform to protect the beet sugar interests. This nation has, at the direction of the republican party, spent thousands of dollars and thousands of lives to free Cuba and now Mr. Roosevelt wants to assume the care of a horde of foreigners at the expense of our people. The form of our government is not paternal and there is certainly no reason why the patrimony of American farmers should be turned over to a lot of idle dagoes. Today, all the Cuban laborers are employed and at good wages. They get $23 per month and if their sugar industry is further developed they will have to import Chinese and other cheap labor to do it. The fact is that the Cuban sugar crop is in the hands of speculators, many of them Americans, and that the same people have purchased options on the crops for some years to come. Now they want us to lower the tariff in order to increase their profits. The laborers and the planters will gain nothing from any reciprocal arrangement we may adopt; it will all go into the hands of a few sugar men."

The Senate has varied its regular performance, "a speech by the democratic member on the Philippines revenue bill, long enough to give some consideration to the permanent census bill during the past week and it is believed that both bills will pass within a few days. The democrats have almost exhausted their oratory on the subject and can hardly put off the final vote much longer.

In the consideration of the census bill Senator Lodge appeared as the champion of civil service reform by opposing the clause of the House bill transferring to the classified service all of the present employees of the Bureau and offered an amendment which provided that only those employees who would be retained under the permanent organization should be afforded civil service protection.

A Senator told me an amusing story of a new Western Congressman yesterday. The new member went to one of the Departments in search of a pamphlet and was directed to the document room, which is lined with documents for free distribution. "I'm Congressman W—," he said, "and I want Bulletin 10." A clerk handed it to him. Surveying the room, and with his thumbs thrust in his armpits, the member remarked, "I guess a Congressman can get pretty much anything he wants here."

Fresh from their recent Boston successes the well known members of the Cadets and Bank Officers' Association who gave the program at the Newton Highlands Golf Club's show in Lincoln hall, Thursday evening of last week, genuinely delighted their auditors.

SUCCESSFUL VALENTINE PARTY.

DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR GIVEN AT THE HUNNEWELL CLUBHOUSE LAST FRIDAY EVENING BY ENTERTAINMENT CLUB.

A highly successful and enjoyable St. Valentine's party was given in the Hunnewell clubhouse Friday evening of last week by the Entertainment Club of Channing Unitarian church. There were nearly 300 present.

In the prettily decorated assembly hall dancing was participated in with the floor under the direction of Mr. C. Fred Rogers, who was assisted by Mr. Frank Scofield. The card rooms were open and whist furnished amusement for many. Mr. Dexter Brackett was in charge.

At 10 o'clock the large company assembled in the upper hall and the valentines were distributed. Some were read by Rev. A. L. Hudson. They were indeed a rare collection, including many artistic designs prepared with much skill. Some were even addressed in foreign languages, and came from places as far distant as Washington.

An original poem written by Mrs. Samuel L. Powers to Mr. Hudson was also received.

The verses were very pleasing, containing brilliant shafts of wit. Mrs. J. H. Wheeler's original poem on "St. Valentine" was, however, in a different vein. It was of a character that commanded the deepest interest and was received with loud applause.

Among those who are due the credit for the success of the occasion are the young women who planned it, Miss Benson, Miss Hunt and Miss Copeland; President Frank W. Webber and vice-president B. L. Goodwin and the executive committee of the Entertainment Club, and Miss Georgia Emery, who had charge of preparing the valentines. The excellent music, Poole's orchestra, was provided by the music committee, Mr. Robert G. Howard, chairman.

The matrons were Mrs. Fred W. Stone, Mrs. J. Fred Simpson, Mrs. W. H. Emerson, Mrs. J. D. Barrows, Mrs. A. L. Hudson and Mrs. H. E. Bothfeld.

MRS. WHEELER'S POEM.

(By special request.)

"Good Morrow! this is St. Valentine's Day.
Wilt thou be my Valentine?"
"Twas thus the lover began his suit
According to ancient rhyme
And these quaint old customs that come to us
From the Pagan world, today
Are but steps to show us the broader love
And its universal sway."

For 'tis love which makes the whole world akin
The love for God and for Man
And his own love the more do we live Fulfilling His perfect plan
St. Valentine, so the legends say,
Was not only great but good.
A Christian martyr, who fought his fight
And died as a good man should.

He healed the sick and restored the sight
Of the blind; and the sore distressed Found in him a friend and a comforter
A peace for a soul oppressed.
He is patron saint of all lovers still
As he was in the ages past.
Humanity's heart will ever be young
As long as his memory shall last.

He loved the poor and the sick and the weak
And saw in each soul a brother.
And his spirit still lives in the world today
In every loyal lover,
And the throb of hearts and the soulless rhymes
Seem mockery most sublime,
Of his own great heart which he gave to the world
An example for all time.

He lives in the hearts of the young and old
In memories glad and tender
Of the days of youth and its artless joys
And young love's sweet surrender.
Deep lessons all noble souls should teach
From this noble life we draw
A symbol of love for the whole round world
A circle complete without flaw.

He lives today in sculptured stone
In a city beyond the seas
A shrine for pilgrims of every clime
To adore on their bending knees.
In his hand he carries a shining sun
Which shall symbolize the love
That illumines the world with its radiant beams
As it streams from the Father above.

Wilt thou be to us a shining sun
To illumine our lives with light
And turn our steps toward the pathway of peace
In sorrowful days and bright?
Dear pastor, we give thee our hearts, our hands,
Our blessings, to thee and thine,
And ask thee the old, old question anew,
Wilt thou be our Saint Valentine?

Police Paragraphs.

Handicapped by a complete ignorance of the English language and no knowledge whatever of the geography of Newton or Boston Mary Gaycunas, a Polish woman of 28 years, had a most unpleasant experience last Sunday. In the morning she went to Boston but upon starting for her brother's home in Upper Falls, became confused and boarded a main line train on the Boston & Albany that left Boston at 2.30 p. m. Realizing she was on the wrong train and that there was no one who could understand her tongue the young woman became hysterical. Her behavior on the train led the people to think that she was drunk or had become insane. The police were called at the Newton depot and Patrolman E. F. Burke escorted the woman to police station 1. The woman was very much excited and although an interpreter addressed her in Russian, French and German, she could tell nothing more than she had a brother in Upper Falls. When it came to taking her to police headquarters in the patrol wagon the young woman strenuously objected. She bitterly fought the officers and created quite a scene. Explanations however soon followed a rigid investigation and the brother was located. She lived with him. The charge of insanity had been preferred, and it became necessary to bring the young woman into court Monday morning. The brother was told by Judge Kennedy that his sister might accompany him home but that he should never allow her to make any trip alone unless she had been carefully directed and had her address plainly written on a card.

Between 6.50 Saturday p. m. and 6.45 Sunday p. m. four women were placed in custody. This remarkable coincidence brought forth an observation from Patrolman "Bob" Harrison that "ladies' days" were becoming popular with the police department.

The original "rough house" made famous in song and story, was not a marker on the state of affairs that existed at the home of John J. Quinn on Faxon street, Nonantum, last Sunday evening. Drawn by the presence of a large crowd that had gathered about the dwelling Patrolman Desmond, closely followed by Patrolman McNeil, entered the Quinn house about 6.45 p. m. and there found Quinn and his son engaged in a hand-to-hand tussle. As one of the patrolmen told the court there was nothing whole in the house except a lighted lamp and a heated stove. Everything else, including furniture, dishes, bric-a-brac and clothing was thrown in the corners of the room and the floors cleared for an old-fashioned catch-as-catch can. Mrs. Quinn's face was covered with blood and she was screaming loudly when the patrolmen entered. Young Quinn made a dash out the door at the appearance of the officers and Patrolman McNeil had a mile before he landed him. Desmond had his hands full with Mr. and Mrs. Quinn. The trio was taken to police headquarters and booked as John J. Quinn, Mary J. Quinn and John F. Quinn. All three were charged with disturbance and the woman with drunkenness. On the latter count Mrs. Quinn was given two months in the house of correction and the other complaint against her continued for sentence. John J. Quinn was fined $5 and John F. Quinn $10.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

Scant Attendance and Routine Business Transacted Last Monday.

Curfew Law, One Day in Ten for Firemen, and Mason School Matters Received.

The severe storm had its effect on the attendance at the aldermanic meeting last Monday evening, and Aldermen Baker, Brown, Carter, Hubbard, Hutchinson, Kimball, Lohr, Lowe, Norris, Pond, Pulsifer, Trowbridge, Webster and President Weed were the only members present.

President Weed stated that on account of the storm the chairman of the school board desired the convention with the aldermen to be postponed, and had notified the school committee to that effect. The convention was then assigned for March 3rd.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were received and referred:

TO COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC WORKS—Of Stevens et al for laying out of Devon road and Hillsborough terrace; and of the Newton Centre Improvement Association, the executive committee of the N. C. I. Association, the Newton Centre Woman's Club and the Citizens' Mason school committee for metal laths, iron stairs and rear stairs, etc., for the new Mason school, and a hearing ordered before the committee on March 11th.

TO COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC FRANCHISES—Of Fred R. Durgin for 6th class liquor license, Walnut street, Ward 2; of John Simeone for common victualler's license; of Murphy et al, for street lights on Dalby street; of the Telephone Co. for pole locations on Adams street, Bennington street, Woodland road and for attachments on Derby street; and of the Gas Co. for pole locations on Boylston street, hearings being ordered before the committee for Feb. 26th at 8 p. m.

Petition of N. T. Allen et al for a curfew law was referred to the committee on rules, etc., a hearing to be given the petitioners.

Petition of Mary A. Foley, widow of John S. Foley for a year's pay on account of death of husband was first referred to the claims committee and later withdrawn and referred to committee on rules, etc.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The following reports were received:

PUBLIC FRANCHISES—Favorable to pole locations to Telephone Co. on Summit street, Bowers street and Grove street; and to attachments on Montvale road, Hammond and Ward streets.

PUBLIC WORKS—Favorable to changing name of Pierce street to Aberdeen street; and favorable to cross walk on Woodward street.

The following reports were received:

PUBLIC FRANCHISES—Granting A. V. Carlson pole table license on Elm street; granting A. Leslie Harris, an innholder's license on High street, and granting Telephone Co. leave to withdraw on pole locations on Hovey street and Langley road.

On the report of this committee recommending leave to withdraw without prejudice on petition of W. & B. Street Railway Co., for location through Waban, Aldermen Trowbridge explained that this matter had been carried over from 1901, and as the company still desired the location the committee had deemed it best to require a new petition. He had just heard however, that the Waltham Co. had used this action of the committee as a point against the Newton Co. before the railroad commissioners this morning.

Alderman Webster said that the W. & B. Co. had refused the conditions offered them last year by the city and the residents of Waban who had signed petitions in favor of that road had changed their minds and now desired the matter started anew. The report was then accepted.

Alderman Trowbridge then presented a new petition of the W. & B. Street Railway Co. for a location through Waban and after some discussion as to its form, a hearing was ordered for March 17th, at 7:45 p. m.

PUBLIC WORKS—Recommending leave to withdraw on petition for laying out of Trowbridge avenue; for concrete sidewalk, Westbourne road; referring Johnson claim to committee on claims and inappreciable in taking land for sewers in Jackson road and Moran street; and on request of school committee for gas in old Claffin building.

RULES, ORDINANCES, ETC.—Recommending approval of records to date.

An order authorizing Mayor to receive sufficient security from the Boston & Worcester Street Railway Co. in the matter of Boylston street in place of the bond required by the order of location was presented by Alderman Trowbridge, who desired an amendment by adding the words "to the value of $100,000." After a short debate the amendment was defeated and the order adopted.

RECESS.

A recess was then taken for committee meetings and upon reassembling, a report from the finance committee recommending a grant of $7489.12 for payment of interest was received and the order therefor adopted.

The committee on rules, report of inappreciable to grant petition of Mary A. Foley for a year's pay was accepted.

ORDERS.

Orders were adopted granting the Telephone Co. location for poles on Summit street, Bowers street and Grove street and attachments on Montvale road, Hammond and Ward streets, changing name of Pierce street to Aberdeen street, and authorizing a flag cross walk on Woodward street.

An order granting permanent firemen one day off in 10 after April 1st and appropriating $641.75 therefor was referred to the finance committee.

An order authorizing sale of aldermanic docket at $1 per year was adopted.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The orders authorizing Mayor to petition for legislation relative to use of streets by corporations; and for change in board of assessors were then taken up.

Alderman Hutchinson advocated postponement as the subjects were of the utmost importance and should be considered by the full board.

Alderman Webster thought this backing and filling reflected on the Mayor whose recommendations had been carefully considered. He also believed that these corporations should pay something for the use of the streets.

Alderman Hubbard favored postponement and Alderman Hutchinson believed that it was a delicate matter to tax quasi-public corporations.

The orders were then assigned for the next meeting of the board, which then adjourned at 9:20 p. m.

Something That Will Do You Good

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup.

PATRIOTISM

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia.

The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier, and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

"After I received the advice which you gave me in regard to my treatment," writes Geo. Dorner, Esq., of 1916 Pulaski street, Baltimore, Maryland, "I used your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' according to directions. After using four bottles I considered myself cured, as I have not felt any symptoms since. I had tried almost all remedies that I heard of that were good for dyspepsia, but without relief. Finally, I became discouraged, and wrote to you for advice, with the above result."

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" is only seeking to make the little more profit realized on the sale of less meritorious preparations.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper covered book, or 31 stamps for the cloth bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE MASON SCHOOL.

Active steps have been taken this week by the many live organizations of Newton Centre, to obtain metal laths, iron stairs and a return to the original plans of the architects as to the size of the rear wing. Petitions have been presented to the city government, and a hearing will be given on March 11th at City Hall.There is no question but what Newton Centre has a powerful argument in the fact that last year's aldermen overruled its committee and gave the Auburndale school whatever benefit there may be in iron stairs and metal lathing, and in its characteristic inconsistency refused those sentimental fixtures for the Mason school.It is a curious fact that while it was the determination of the aldermen of 1901 to treat both Auburndale and Newton Centre impartially in the matter of school houses, its votes on the matter of architectural competition and in the details of construction were absolutely at variance with each other. Newton Centre secured a reversal of the architects' vote last year and now seeks to obtain similar construction as Auburndale receives.It is a ridiculous statute or interpretation of a statute which requires a convention of the aldermen and school committee to call another convention at which a member of the school committee is to be elected to fill a vacancy in that body. If a convention to call a convention is required, why is it not also necessary to call another preliminary convention to call the first one, and so on.
In the mean time, the people of Ward 4, and particularly the Hamilton district, who have a standing grievance over the lack of school accommodations, are deprived of their representation in the school committee. Cut the red tape, gentlemen, and fill the vacancy.It is interesting to note that the recent tirade of Congressman Wheeler of Kentucky was on the question of granting Aaron C. Badger an increase of pension to $30 a month. Incidentally Mr. Badger got his pension increased.Who can fill the mastership of the Wade school to the satisfaction of both the school committee and the people of the Upper Falls?Shall we have the Curfew in Newton?

Suicide of College Student.

Richard Montague, aged 20 years, a student at Brown University, and a stepson of Mrs. Charles H. Bennett of 921 Beacon street, Newton Centre, committed suicide in his room 39 Hope hall, Brown University, Providence, R. I., last Friday night. The body was found early Saturday morning, death having resulted from a bullet wound in the heart and another in the head, both self-inflicted.The act was committed some time during the night, and was evidently premeditated, for the gas jet was found to be wide open. The young man was a member of the debating team and was prominent in the social and athletic life of the university.
Despondency is thought to have prompted the deed.His father, now deceased, was the Rev. Richard Montague, for several years pastor of the Newton Centre Baptist church.Mr. Bennett, when seen in regard to the affair, said he could assign no reason for the suicide. The young man was at home Sunday, February 9, apparently in the best of spirits, and the first intimation the family had of such a thing as suicide, was the dispatch received Saturday morning from President Fauce of Brown.Funeral services were held Sunday in the Central Baptist church at Providence, and later the remains were brought to the Newton cemetery for burial.

MUCH PRAISE

For Elevated Road During Monday's Storm.Brief Extracts From Boston Papers.The comments on the ability with which the Boston Elevated Street Railway Company handled its service during the heavy storm of last Monday, are numerous and hearty. We reprint editorials from the Boston Herald and Boston Journal relating thereto:THE SNOW AND THE ELEVATED SERVICE.

(From the Herald.)

After passing through two nearly snowless winters, the elevated railway company has again demonstrated the perfection of its organization and equipment for snow fighting. Many of the street railways within the territory covered by the storm were more or less seriously tied up, but the local system, both surface and elevated, was kept open to traffic without interruption. One can appreciate that the results that have been achieved are by no means accidental, nor could the success have been as complete as it has been had not a highly perfected organization been carefully devised in advance. In fact, it may be said that the question of supremacy between the storm and the railway is commonly settled before the first flake of snow falls. The readiness and ease with which the elevated road throws out its ploughs, men and teams in sufficient numbers, and at the right points upon the surface line, are evidence of the careful forethought of the management and the military-like organization among its men. Indeed, the efficiency of the system springs largely from the military training and instincts of its president; its forces are handled and its efforts are directed much as are those of an army in the field.Another fact which the storm established is, that the elevated lines and the service upon them are not likely to be interfered with by a snow storm, even though it be wet and heavy. Thus the great volume of traffic is taken from the surface of the streets which become blocked with teams that are forced upon the railway track by the presence of deep snow upon either side of the street.
As a result of the elevated service, suburban passengers were brought in town, for the first time after a heavy snow storm, with the same speed and certainty as though there had been no storm. Both the public and the road are to be congratulated upon the efficiency of the system and its management under severely trying conditions.

ORGANIZATION THAT TELLS.

(From the Journal.)

The work of the Boston Elevated Railway Company in the big snow storm just ended, and the results the company accomplished, are striking illustrations of its thorough organization and the energy with which its work is carried out.While many other roads were tied up by the heavy and wet fall of snow, the Boston company did not lose a single foot of track; its cars carried the public safely home, a little less speedily than on the previous day, but just as surely. The elevated lines also proved to be perfectly successful in running without fail through the storm and after the storm.It is generally understood that the system which resulted in these excellent results is the work of the president of the road, Gen. William A. Bancroft. His skill as an organizer is well known, and it was never better illustrated than in the handling during the emergencies of the complex system of cars running in and out of Boston. Not once since he took charge of the road has it failed of thorough success in meeting the needs of the public in any and all crucial occasions like that of this week.

Communication.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

It was with great pleasure that I noted Mr. Bullard's article on the Postal Service of Newton in your recent issue, and I think it is time that the people of Newton awoke to the fact that something should be done for the interest of better Postal Service. Why should we not be taken in as a branch office of the Boston General Post Office?

It would mean more deliveries, which we certainly are in need of, a greater number of collections, and better transmission of mails; in fact, the same service which is given to Brookline or the Back Bay. Then why should we not enjoy these privileges which our sister cities, Malden, Chelsea, Cambridge, Somerville, Arlington, Revere and our near neighbor Brookline enjoy.

Every citizen should express himself on this subject for it would be a great advancement for the City.

Newton Club.

The bowling team made a valiant effort to tie for second place last Friday night in the match with Arlington, but did not strike their pace until the first game had been won by Arlington. The first game was heart-breaking to the Newton men, Buntin's work being particularly off.

In the second, on the contrary expectations became high as Buntin's strikes grew from one to six that a phenomenal score was to be made. A bad break however, in the ninth box shattered that hope, and Buntin was forced to be content with 232.

A feature of the game was the remarkably even mingling of Pray, Wellington and Brooks. Every man on both teams qualified for the honor class of the week. The score:

It was rumored at the club last Monday that Mr. Samuel W. French was on the golf links that afternoon and made a fine score.

The Hawthorne Musical Club entertained the members Saturday night with vocal and instrumental music and impersonations. The trombone player was particularly good.

Two ladies braved the storm of Monday for an afternoon at whist.

The next ladies' night at whist takes place on Wednesday, Feb. 26.

Mrs. Jas. Richard Carter, Mrs. Henry E. Cobb and Mrs. G. P. Bullard are the matrons at the dinner this evening.

M. O. Rice and J. F. Humphrey were high men at duplicate whist last Monday with 7 plus.

The bowling team reached second place last night by winning two ordinary games at Calumet. Scully was high with 554, and all but Buntin and Maltby topped 500.

The next game is at Charlestown on Thursday.

Letter to R. F. Cranitch.

Dear Sir: There is going to be, from now on, in Newton a good deal of painting done, that will last in good condition from 3 years up—10 years is common; we know of it good in 15; and we know no limit—it seems to be likely to last as long as the house lasts, in favorable conditions.

The painter that uses this paint will get all the business he can do. Devote lead and zinc is the paint. It looks as good as any; costs no more; and is ready—no tinting or mixing to do.

The zinc is ground in with the lead by machinery—you can't do that. Test it yourself, if you like; but there's plenty of evidence for it. We take the risk of how it turns out—there is no risk. Do you want this work?

Yours truly,
F. W. Devoe & Co.

NEW RECORDS

Made at N. H. S. Athletic Meet, Saturday.

Well Contested Events In Drill Hall.

The making of new records, hundreds of pretty girls along the bleachers, the cries of admiring supporters and the almost incessant din of several locomotive bells, the latter to the great annoyance of nearly a thousand spectators, marked the annual Washington's Birthday meet of the boys of the High school athletic association in the drill shed at Newtonville.

This meet was one of the most successful yet held by the association, both from the point of attendance and from the quickness and despatch in which the various events were run off. There was not a slow moment from the opening of the winning's program to the class team race, the last event.

Floor Marshall Brown with his megaphone, Starter Moore with his inimitable pantomimes of a man attempting to fire a pistol, class cries and howls, all helped to fill in the lulls.

The customary lack of enough programs, seats and any attempt at press accommodation, left much to be improved upon.

B. K. Stephenson and H. S. Very of the home school were the shining lights of the evening and at times it looked as if all the prizes would be left in their custody.

While this did not actually take place, for all around athletics of their class, they made the best showing seen for many a year.

In the short put Stephenson won first, breaking the record of 33 feet 1 inch, held by H. D. Priest, '93, by a throw of 34 feet 5 1/2 inches. Very broke the record in the high jump, broke the record of 5 feet 3 1/4 inches by establishing one of 5 feet 7 1/4 inches. Stephenson, who made record place with a jump of 5 feet 6 1/2 inches, also broke the old record.

The pole vault brought Very and Stephenson again into prominence. The result was a tie with the bar at 8 feet 7 inches.

In the fleet footed class, R. J. Leonard was out for honors, and in the three hundred yard run distanced all competitors.

While Newton High made a good showing in the heats of the various open events, several dark horse visitors came to the front in the finals and shut Newton out of them all.

The annual team race between Brookline High and Newton, the home aggregation made up for the drubbing their hockey team received this season by easily defeating the visitors and incidentally making a new record of 1 minute 35 3-5 seconds. The old record was 1 minute 36 1-5 seconds.

Aside from those mentioned, school records were also broken in the 1000 yard run and 600 yard run.

Last but not least on the program was the class team race between '02, '03, '04 and '05, which was won by '02, amid a roar of applause and excitement. The others came in as above.

The summary:

Thirty yard dash—First heat, R. J. Leonard. Second heat, B. K. Stephenson. Final heat, won by C. R. Leonard; R. J. Leonard, second. Time—3 4-5.

Supposed Firebug at Work.

At 11:57 last Monday night box 714 was rung in for a fire which partially destroyed a barn at 38 Sumner street, Newton Centre, owned and occupied by Patrick E. Linnahan. This was the second blaze of probable incendiary origin that occurred within 24 hours.

As it was there were two horses suffocated and their bodies were found when the firemen thought to rescue them. The damage to the barn is estimated at $400.

Small blazes have occurred with considerable frequency of late at Newton Centre and the circumstances have led to the advancement of a theory that there is a firebug at work.

It's a poor rule that doesn't work both ways. The In-er-seal Patent Package not only keeps out all the bad but keeps in all the good. That's why Kennedy's Butter Thin Biscuit are so good.

GOT MESSAGE WRONG.

AND THE RESULT WAS A "GOOD ONE" ON THE POLICE DEPARTMENT, YET IT INDICATED SIGNS OF SPRING.

Because of the accidental misinterpretation of a telephone message at police headquarters Tuesday morning there is some good humored "knocking" at certain members of the department. Those most directly concerned are fully aware of the comedy of the situation and return the laugh quite readily.

It was shortly before 9 that Lieut. Fred M. Mitchell answered a telephone call over the public line. The voice at the other end declared (so the lieutenant understood) that there were two drunks on West Newton hill. One was on the piazza of a house near the corner of Berkeley and Prince streets and the other in a yard nearby.

That such a state of affairs could exist in one of Newton's most aristocratic sections greatly astonished the lieutenant. He decided at once to send a patrol sleigh to the scene.

As one of the pair of horses on the patrol was at the blacksmith shop there was a little delay in making the hitch, but within a short time the official vehicle, with Patrolman Richard Taffe inside, made a flying trip up the hill to the seat of the trouble.

As the patrol sleigh approached the corner of Prince and Berkeley streets there appeared a man on the sidewalk who waved his hands and shouted, "You got my message did you?"

At that the patrol driver drew up his horses and the man on the sidewalk said to Patrolman Taffe, "There's one of 'em on the piazza of that empty house and the other is in the yard over there."

Without any parley Patrolman Taffe dashed up the steps of the house indicated. He regretted his haste for he returned immediately at even a quicker pace. It was no drunk; it was a skunk.

By this time Patrolman Taffe realized what he had overlooked in his desire to perform his duty. The stench was unbearable. Calling to the man on the sidewalk Patrolman Taffe asked, "Is the other one in the yard like the one on the piazza?"

"Yes sir," came the answer. "Well I guess we won't stop," returned the officer and the patrol made off down the hill as swiftly as the horses could draw it.

"Did you get them?" asked Lieut. Mitchell as the patrolman returned to police headquarters.

No sir, I only heard them," the officer answered.

What was the real cause of trouble was soon learned by the lieutenant by the officers' explanation and it was decided that the investigation should rest there.

Information has been offered that the appearance of skunks at this time of year is one of the best indications of early spring that can be obtained. If this is true Lieut. Mitchell and Patrolman Taffe are thankful that they accomplished something.

Literary Notes.

The Outlook in its March Magazine number has no less than ten illustrated special features—certainly a good showing as to quantity in a magazine which is also a weekly newspaper and devotes even in its "magazine numbers" large space to current topics, editorials, and book reviews. Among the illustrated articles of this month are: Two Colleges Presidents Mark and Henry Hopkins; Edward Everett Hale's "Memories of a Hundred Years;" E. A. Steiner's "Crackow and Polish Patriotism;" Poulney Bigelow's "Henry the Sailor Prince;" W. A. Brown's "Some Rare Musical Instruments;" and Clifton Johnson's "When the White Mountains are White."

Scribner's Magazine for March begins another of its important features for the current year—the reminiscences of Daniel C. Gilman, who for twenty-five years was president of Johns Hopkins University. Richard Harding Davis makes a new departure in fiction and does it with the best success. He tells the dramatic biography of a bull terrier, from the point of view of the dog, Mr. Vanderlip's articles on the "Commercial Invasion" continue to be commented on all over the country. In this number the author deals particularly with American competition in England, France and Russia. In contrast to Mr. Vanderlip's optimism is an article by Brooks Adams entitled "War and Economic Competition." The short stories include a tale of a winter storm on the Great Lakes; an amusing Adirondack story; and tale of sentiment called "A Bridal Memory." Artistically this number is very beautiful.

Babies' Photographs

There are many people who would like to have their babies' photographs taken, but who do not care to take them to a photographer's studio. In most houses there is one room in which the light is good and pictures taken there not only gives a portrait of the baby but also shows the home surroundings. Marshall is very successful in this work and will for the next month make no extra charge for going to the house. His studio is in Nonantum square, Newton, Tel. 117-5, where he is always glad to show specimens of work.

A Letter of Appreciation from Lord Overtowne.

Rev. W. T. Sleeper, Newton, Mass., U. S. A. Jan. 14, 1902.

Dear Sir:—I am favored with your letter of 19th Dec., and have read with interest the copy of Mr. Sankey's letter which you send me. What he tells you about your hymn is quite true, and I trust many more may be comforted by your writings, and I have to thank you for the copy of the favorite hymn you send me and beg to enclose five pounds for your acceptance, with kind regard. Believe me

Your very truly

Mr. Sankey's letter referred to, was written from Brooklyn last autumn enclosing a substantial token of remembrance "from one who has sung your beautiful hymns both in this and other lands with great pleasure and I trust some blessing." It also said, "it may comfort you to know that my good friend Lord Overtowne of Scotland, told me on one occasion, that when he was very ill, and expected to die, he received the greatest comfort from your hymn. 'Jesus I Come.'"

The closing stanza of that hymn has special adaptation to one's need when the next life seems near.

Out of the fear and dread of the tomb Jesus I come, Jesus I come; Into the joy and light of my house, Jesus I come to Thee;

Out of the depths of ruin untold, Into the peace of Thy sheltering fold, Ever Thy glorious face to behold, Jesus I come to Thee.

The venerable author, in his eighty-fourth year, continues an active and useful member of the great host of singing prophets. Others have gratefully written him of help from his hymns.

Mr. Wheeler Got Rid of His Rheumatism "During the winter of 1898 I was lame so in my joints, in fact all over my body, that I could hardly hobble around, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. From the first application I began to get well, and was cured and have worked steadily all the year.—R. Wheeler, Northwood, N. Y. For sale by all druggists.

NEW BELL

Blessed At Lower Falls
Catholic Church.Large Numbers Witnessed
The Ceremony.

The blessing of the new bell at St. John's Catholic church last Sunday was a highly interesting and impressive ceremony. It was witnessed by the largest congregation that has ever filled the edifice. The gathering included many followers of the Catholic faith as well as their non-Catholic friends from the different Newtons, Wellesley, Boston, Watertown and other neighboring places.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Brady in the absence of Archbishop Williams. Seated within the sanctuary were the assisting clergymen and a large number of priests from different parts of the archdiocese of Boston. The new bell, which weighs 3100 pounds, was hung in a substantial frame within the chancel rail. The frame itself was festooned with smilax and white carnations.

Seven vespers was celebrated at 3.30 by Rev. Daniel J. Gleason of Randolph. The deacons of honor were Rev. Philip O'Donnell of St. Philip's church, Roxbury, and Rev. Henry A. Sullivan, rector of the cathedral, Boston. Rev. A. D. Malley of the Working Boys' Home was master of ceremonies.

Following the blessing of the bell by Bishop Brady the vespers services proceeded. An eloquent sermon was delivered by Rev. John J. Ryan of St. Paul's church, Cambridge.

In the course of his address Fr. Ryan spoke of the uses of bells in ages past, how they sounded the call to duty, warned people of impending danger, rejoiced at victory and mourned at the death knell. The bell of a church occupied a place in the heart of every parishioner. From youth to age it had its significance throughout their entire life. Its meaning was felt by every true believer and should therefore be held in great reverence.

Referring to the reason for the ceremonial of the afternoon he said that the bell had been given a new dignity and that it would be held in sublime memory with the church.

The new bell, he said, had been purified at the altar of God and was not to be desecrated. It was what might be called a Christian bell.

This bell of St. John's church, he said, was to be numbered among God's own chiming. It was obedient to the will of man upon condition that man believe in the faith.

In conclusion Fr. Ryan paid a high tribute to Fr. Callanan and said that the bell was a never-to-be-forgotten monument to the zeal and energy of the faithful pastor of St. John's church.

At the close of the ceremony Fr. Callanan called upon Mayor J. W. Weeks of Newton, who, with other members of the city government, was present, to ring the bell. Mayor Weeks sounded the bell and then these sponsors each pulled the rope: William Costello, Nicholas Welch, A. E. Quackenbush, Mary E. Fitzpatrick, Mary Callanan, Katherine Connolly and Anna Brady.

The music of the afternoon included "O Salutaris" and "Tantum Ergo" by the congregation, "Veni Creator" by James Hurley of St. Mary's church, Newton Upper Falls, "Dixit Dominus" by Miss Eleanor McCourt, "Confiteor" by Miss McCourt, "Beatus Vir" by Miss Katherine Lynch, "Laudate" by Miss May Donlon and "Magnificat" by John Donlon. Miss Alice G. Mullen was organist.

The ushers were James McAllister, Bernard Early, Edward Madden, Owen McCourt, Thomas C. Hyde, Harry Cahill, Joseph Crotty, Alexander McDonald, John Donovan, Harry Vrett, James Early and Frank Costello.

Mrs. Martha Elizabeth Cutler.

Mrs. Martha Elizabeth Cutler, wife of Rev. Calvin Cutler, pastor emeritus of the church at Auburndale, Mass., entered into rest on the morning of Jan. 28. The daughter of Rev. David Sanford, who was for thirty-seven years the pastor at Medway, Mass., she inherited her father's energy and ready sympathy with all, whatever their station in life. As a pastor's daughter she was early a faithful and welcome visitor of the sick and any that needed help. The ministry so begun was continued by more than twenty-five years of service as a pastor's wife. Duties belonging to her position were accepted, not with easy self-confidence, but as something to be done for the Master. They were fulfilled, not in an official way, but heartily, as unto the Lord. For eighteen years she was the loved president of the Mother's Association, and had for a number of years been the foreign secretary of the Union Maternal Association of Boston. The time and strength that she long gave to the Sunday school as the head of the primary department would have seemed quite enough to ask of one person. Her loving training is recalled with gratitude by scores of young people that were thus brought under her influence.

Those that moved into the town as strangers cherish among their first and brightest impressions of the place the cheery welcome from her almost as soon as they found themselves in their new home. As by instinct she learned who was in need of a word of comfort or a helping hand. She not only sought out such herself, but with tactful skill took care to guide other friends to them. Those that had come to know her she had no occasion to seek; they were themselves drawn by her happy face, her merry words, her warm sympathy, her Christlike spirit. Making her own home one that it was always a delight to enter, she found time to brighten other homes by unselfish thoughtfulness and kinds of service that would be expected only from one with few cares of her own. Of her tireless going about doing good she did not grow weary, but found in it her great delight. The deep sense of loss at her departure, on the part of the community as well as of the church that she loved, was suggested by the flag at half mast over the schoolhouse.

The comfort that she had offered others in their grief sustained her when heavy affliction came upon her; The hymn that she taught many a child was on her lips the last night she spent on earth as the expression of her own simple and childlike faith. She rested from her labors here to enter the company of His servants that serve Him where He is.

Of many letters received about her, the following are a few sentences: "Her face was a perfect sunbeam. Whenever she came I always felt as if a ray of sunlight had entered the room." "I thought her one of the loveliest women I ever knew, forgetful of self and ready to do whatever came in her way to help others." "She always seemed to me a model minister's wife in respect to her unvarying cheerfulness, which was inspiring her uniform kindness and her constant activity in Christian work. She seemed always ready to fill all gaps and do all things that other people could not do or did not wish to do." "I always liked just to watch your mother, she was always so brave, bright and cheery. I thought that her bravery in bearing Arthur's going from her was wonderful." "For several years I have been away from a mother, and so motherly women have always attracted me; and motherly Mrs. Cutler was. It was a pleasure to see her, especially in her relations with Arthur; she made our play more cheerful still, but was very decided when a question of right or duty was concerned."

Sportsman's Show.

Mechanic's building, Boston, is just now vocal to the quacking of wild ducks, the piping of quail, the clucking of partridge and the snarls and growls of rare fur bearing animals. Deer and antelope and elk look out wild-eyed from the yards into the big exhibition hall, and two buffaloes from the great Austin Corbin game preserve in New England chew their cud in quiet contentment.

The entire building will be occupied and the entire building is none too large for the splendid exhibition which will make this, the third biennial exhibition of the Massachusetts Sportsmen's Association, a memorable one.

The entire space of the building has been taxed for room to show the wild game. The fish exhibit makes all previous attempts in this line seem commonplace. The splendid collection of ancient and modern firearms recently purchased from the Brooks collection of Hartford, Conn., by the United States Cartridge Company of Lowell, and loaned for exhibition at the Sportsmen's Show, spans the space between the longbow and green bow and the modern big powered small bore.

The aquatic department will bring together the champion amateur swimmers of the country. The tank for the water events is 90 feet long, 50 feet wide and 7 feet deep. It is large enough this year for the canoe feature, always interesting to canoe clubs in greater Boston, and one of the Canadian Clubs will try for prizes in the tug-of-war events which are fought out in war canoes.

More than 150 men have been employed nearly two weeks in giving to the inside of Mechanic's building its present aspect. A small grove of firs was used up in the decorations, and the balsam smells from this delightful evergreen waft the minds of sportsmen to old scenes, old camps, favorite streams, likely covers, deer-peopled woods.

Representative Dana.

Practical Politics, which usually criticizes republican measures or republican members, has the following words of praise for Mr. Dana:

A WISE ASSIGNMENT. It is the general verdict that Speaker Myers made no mistake when he placed Representative Dana, of Newton, at the head of the important insurance committee. Mr. Dana served his city in important elective positions before coming to the general court last year. He rendered important service as a member of the committee on the revision of the statutes. He is one of the most quiet and unassuming members of the house, still he is one of its most effective workers. He never plays for the galleries, but with contentment with the conscientious performance of the duties assigned to him.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS

Tremont Theatre—"King Dodo," the great big comic opera success in its third week at the Tremont Theatre in Boston, and the record of packed houses is one that has never been equalled before in the history of comic opera in Boston. The many diverting features of this capital entertainment have appealed strongly to all classes of theatregoers and its great numbers of tuneful airs are being whistled by every body in Boston and vicinity, who can bring his lips to a pucker. This is unquestionably the comic opera hit of the year in Boston and it is doubtful if any attraction in the past ten years has attained such a degree of popularity in so short a time. Seats are now selling four weeks in advance and it seems probable that old Dodo will continue to attract capacity audiences until the end of his reign in Boston. The dimensions of the hits scored by Raymond Hitchcock in the title role are colossal and this clever comedian may justly claim first place in this line in the esteem of Boston theatregoers.

Children's Theatre—The new "Puss in Boots" is by far the best entertainment that has yet been given at the Children's Theatre. It has the spirit of fun in it from beginning to end. Tom Coburn, as Puss in Boots, literally owned the audience, his funny antics when he imitated Billy the stable boy were side splitting. Alice Farrell, as The Princess, sings delightfully. One of the best features of this charming play was the picture that Dick paints for the Princess. Ruth Rapaport, as Little Dick, shows such dramatic ability, and Hazel Frost, as the discontented Princess is bewitching and childish. Altogether "Puss in Boots" is a most charming performance, for both little and big people to see.

Colonial Theatre—The most important theatrical event of the current season in Boston will be the return engagement of Klaw & Erlanger's stupendous dramatic production of Gen. Lew Wallace's "Ben Hur," which will begin a brief stay at the Colonial Theatre, Monday evening, March 17th. Although this great play held the stage at the Colonial last season from early in December till the following May, its return to Boston will prove a most welcome event to thousands of people in New England who were unable to witness it at that time, as well as to those who were fortunate enough to secure opportunities to see it. Last season the chariot race was presented with but two cars and eight horses. This season there will be three chariots and twelve blooded Arabians in the chariot race, thereby wonderfully developing the realism of this remarkable feature. The advance sale of seats will begin about one week before the opening performance, Monday, March 17th.

Sleeplessness

Is akin to insanity. Many a woman realizes this as she lies awake hour by hour, peopling the darkness with phantoms, starting at the creaking of the bed or the rustle of the bedclothes. Such symptoms in general point to disease of the delicate womanly organs, and a constant drain of the vital and nervous forces. This condition cannot be overcome by sleeping powders. The diseased condition must be cured before the consequences of disease are removed.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which cause nervousness and sleeplessness. It is the best of tonics and invigorants, nourishing the nerves, encouraging the appetite and inducing refreshing sleep. Irregularity, weakening (dysmenstruation), inflammation, ulceration and female weakness are perfectly cured by "Favorite Prescription."

"My wife was sick for over eight years," writes Albert H. Fulle, Esq., of Allston, "and was treated by two physicians and got no relief. At last I read about Dr. Pierce's medicine and we decided to try his 'Favorite Prescription.' I sent to the drug store and got one bottle and the first dose gave ease and sleep. She had not slept any for three nights. Being sure that it would cure her I sent for five more bottles and when she had taken the sixth bottle she was sound and well."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Favorite Prescription" whenever a laxative is required.

AN ASST. FIRE CHIEF.

Over two months have now elapsed since the sad death of the late Assistant Chief of Fire department, F. H. Humphrey, and as yet no steps have been taken towards filling the vacant position.

While this is an important office, requiring the greatest care and judgment by the appointing officer, it is also too important a matter to be long deferred.

The fire department, as an organization, is now dependent upon the life of but one man, and the City of Newton has learned by bitter experience during the last eight years that its fire officials are brave to the point of recklessness, and view danger with contempt.

It therefore seems advisable to make an early appointment to this office, not only for the purpose of relieving the very efficient chief of department from the burden of extra labor which he is cheerfully bearing at the present time, but as a wise provision for the future.

THE JURY LIST.

The posting of the jury list the past week by the registrars of voters, reminds us of the arbitrary powers of those officers in determining the panel from which men are drawn to serve their country in the jury box.

It is too bad that the prejudice against jury service is so deep rooted in this state as to blind the eyes of all good citizens to the fact, that patriotism is not a virtue to be displayed in times of war, but one that makes demands in times of peace as well.

The citizen who does his duty by service on a jury, deserves equally commendation with his brother who serves in the militia.

The leave of absence granted to Mr. C. Bowditch Coffin, Deputy Collector of taxes calls public attention to the illness of a faithful public servant. Mr. Coffin's work at City Hall, carefully and conscientiously done has probably caused his enforced absence from his office. It is a matter of regret that the city authorities do not find themselves able to continue Mr. Coffin's salary during his illness, but all join in wishing him a speedy recovery to health and strength.

The erratic movements of the village clock at Newton Centre, which have scandalized the good people of that village for six months have ceased. It has stopped. Unless public officials or public spirit revives its days of usefulness are over.

The two dozen caucus reform measures before the Legislature will be heard by the committee on election laws next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 4, 5, and 6, in the largest committee room at the State House, No. 240, beginning at 10.30 each day. The formal assignments put down the direct nomination measures for Tuesday, the party enrollment measures for Wednesday, and the primary election bills for Thursday, but the whole subject is likely to be canvassed without strict regard to assignment. It is expected that these will be the most important committee hearings of the session, and whoever takes an interest in things political should attend one or all of them, whether for the purpose of helping to enlighten the committee as to public sentiment, or of getting enlightened. Everybody says something must be done. These hearings are held to give the public the chance to tell what it should be.

SCHOOL BOARD

HELD A SESSION WEDNESDAY EVENING AND RECEIVED A NUMBER OF RESIGNATIONS.

A meeting of the school board was held Wednesday evening. Chairman Gorham presiding.

The board of aldermen, in an official communication, notified the school board that it was inexpedient to install gas in the old Claflin school building.

In his monthly report Supt. Fifield said that owing to the large number of teachers' resignations that had been received he had been obliged to make a number of temporary appointments. The demand for grammar school teachers since January had exceeded the supply.

The sum of $90 had been added to the Pierce school picture fund netted from a lecture given by Capt. Howard, and the Roger Wolcott school was recently presented a fine picture of the late governor, by Mr. Frank A. Childs.

The superintendent said that much difficulty had been encountered in sounding the "no school" signals as the bells were not always heard. He recommended the placing of a powerful steam whistle in the center of the city.

The subject was considered and finally referred to the committee on rules.

Relative to land on which the city had been given an option on Manet road, Chestnut Hill, for school purposes, the board adopted a report of the committee on school houses that it would be inexpedient to purchase the land.

Resignations were received of Charles G. Wetherbee, master of the Wade grammar school, William A. Spinnery of the Mason school district, Annie E. George of the Williams school and Ethel E. Gould of the Thompsonville school.

Orders were referred to the finance committee granting leaves of absence to Frances P. Owen of the High school, and Clara G. Thompson of the Franklin school, with balance of salary, and appointing Harriet Wetherell as temporary head of the Wade school at a salary of $1,000.

An order was adopted requesting the city government to provide quarters for the kindergarten of the Hyde school. The sum of $20,170.63 was appropriated for the February department expenses.

The suggestion of Mr. Howes that a docket should be printed for each meeting was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Howes and Howard.

CUNNING CAPERS.

CUT UP BY THE PUPILS OF "THE DEESTRICT SKULE"—SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT GIVEN BY THE YOUNG MEN'S CLUB OF ELIOT CHURCH.

From the moment the schoolmaster, his head bowed and his brow wrinkled in deep thought, walked with measured strides down the center aisle of Eliot church parlors Wednesday evening and then took his seat upon the platform, there was not a dull moment at that evening's session of "The Deestrick Skule."

The entrance of this worthy pedagogue John Harvard, L. L. D., C. O. D., (Alderman C. S. Ensign) was followed by that of Charity Pickens (Ed Leeds), who gayly tripped to the blackboard and held the audience of nearly 400 spellbound while she prepared for rhetorical analysis such examples of literature as "This is a worm, do not tread upon it."

And such was the beginning of the witty, amusing and highly pleasing entertainment given by the Young Men's Club of Eliot Congregational church.

The suggestion of anything hackneyed that might have come to the minds of some from the name "Deestrick Skule," was soon banished after the session had fairly started.

Bright allusions, gentle hits, funny comparisons and good songs, made up an interesting program that kept the audience in the best of spirits and provoked no end of laughter and applause.

But the make-ups. Here lay the crowning feature. Girls, all of them giddy, giggling, girly girls, were the daintiest, docile, dollie dolls that ever happened. Lovely curls, most of them blonde, hung like those of "Jane, Jane, who never looked the same," down their backs.

The boys too made an impression. There was enough individuality in the gathering to put Heinz 57 varieties in the shade.

The school committee, Messrs. Edwin O. Childs, Sr. and Mr. John H. Robinson, formed the twin combination that was heavy enough to make the boards of the platform creak.

To enumerate the good things and the good work of the clever participants would be too much of a strain on the Graphic compositors, as there is a limit to space.

All parts, male and female, were alike skillfully taken by these club members: Messrs. Trowbridge, Schofield, Eaton, Naylor, Graybill, Root, Peterson, Emery, Spencer, Stanton, Hansen, Leeds, Allen, Porter, Bacon, Johnson, Haskell, McCammon, Kellogg, Wade, Manning, C. S. Ensign, Jr., Curtiss, Hadden, Ellison, Black, Scott, and Danley.

The committee in charge included Messrs. E. O. Childs, Jr., William Kellogg and Arnold Scott.

Newton Club.

Washington's birthday was appropriately celebrated Friday evening by a dinner and dance in which many of the prominent members of the club and their lady guests participated. The circular dinner tables, each seating eighteen or twenty congenial friends were beautifully decorated with streamers of the national colors and red, white and blue flowers scattered over the cloth. Red, white and blue electric lights peeped from within festoons of green, and the souvenir menu cards were decorated with a pen and ink sketch of Mt. Vernon. The dinner was one of the finest served this winter and national and popular airs were rendered by Pieter's orchestra during the hours of feasting. Immediately following the dinner was the dance in the assembly hall, which was decorated with small flags and red, white and blue streamers kept in motion by electric fans. The matrons receiving were: Mrs. James Richard Carter, Mrs. Henry E. Cobb, Mrs. George P. Bullard. The ushers were: Mr. Walter H. Pulsifer, Mr. Harry Stephenson, Mr. Edwin S. George, Mr. Wm. H. Hackett, Mr. Herbert G. Ripley, Mr. Chas. N. Fitz, Mr. Henry R. Nash. Among the many beautiful gowns worn were particularly noticed that of Mrs. Carter, which was black lace over white, jet ornaments and a huge bouquet of Lawson pinks, which with white are the Newton Club colors; Mrs. Cobb was gowned in black lace, ornaments diamonds, with huge bouquet of violets; Mrs. Bullard, white renaissance lace over delicate pink; Mrs. Alvin F. Sortwell, white lace over white, with black velvet trimmings; Mrs. W. F. Kimball in colonial gown of rich brocade and lace, powdered hair and colonial ornaments; Mrs. Carter of Arlington, lavender brocade and silver; Mrs. Geo. W. Brown, embroidered black net over white, jet and silver spangles; Mrs. Barrows, black velvet and pearls; Mrs. W. H. Lucas, white lace over white; Mrs. Herbert G. Ripley, black silk grenadine over green, Lotus flower in hair; Mrs. Wm. J. Follet, black velvet and lace over white; Mr. Edgar A. Follet of Brookline, N. Y., white silk and black renaissance lace; Mrs. Shaw of Montreal, black gauze; Mrs. E. T. Fearing, black renaissance lace over white with jet ornaments; Mrs. E. B. Bowen, blue brocade and white lace; Mrs. J. L. Richards, black net with white and silver; Mrs. Wm. H. Allen, black net with velvet flower applique; Miss Johnson, white satin and chiffon; Miss Cobb, black grenadine, with choker of coral maline; Mrs. Chas. white mousseline lace; Mrs. W. O. Kyle, black crepe de chine.

Wednesday evening's "ladies' whist" brought out a large attendance. There was play at 20 tables, and the winners were Mrs. M. O. Rice, Mrs. A. Berry, Mrs. J. J. Cornish, Mrs. W. F. Lunt, Mrs. F. E. Marston, Mrs. S. W. Manning and Mrs. Samuel Pray.

At duplicate whist Monday evening W. G. Morrey and J. D. Robinson, Wm. Hollings and Capt. Sampson, and A. Highlands and A. C. Burr tied with 3½ plus each, the first pair winning a trick score.

The bowling team serious set back at Charlestown last evening, losing 3 games and dropping back to fourth place, has shattered the hopes of its friends that it could again win the championship. With but four weeks of the season left it would be a most peculiar combination that would allow the team even so much as a look at first place.

The team rolls 999th next Friday at Newtonville.

Letter to W. H. Baker, Newtonville.

Dear Sir: What would be the result of selling poor paint with this guarantee?

"If you have any fault to find with this paint, either now or in putting it on, or hereafter in the wear, tell your dealer about it."

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

That means pay damages, don't it?

Here's another guarantee: "If your state chemist finds this paint adulterated, we will pay his bill, and send you $100."

We stand by both of these guarantees; as we are the maker, we know all about it.

Police Paragraphs.

Giuseppe Palamoro, an Italian fruit dealer with a store on Langley road, Newton Centre, was arrested by the police of division 3 Tuesday evening charged with violation of the liquor law. The allegations of the police were that reserve patrolman Henry L. Bates, dressed in an old suit of plain clothes, purchased three bottles of lager beer from Palamoro about 9 Tuesday evening. Palamoro was found guilty Wednesday morning and fined $50.

Patrolman Bernard F. Burke was on Wednesday made acting sergeant of division 3 during the illness of Sergt. Bartlett.

James Salvia, aged 9, an Italian boy of Nonantum, was complained of in court Wednesday for larceny. The evidence of the government showed that the boy had stolen from the pocket of a Hebrew woman a purse containing about $4.50. Judge Kennedy, after administering a severe reprimand, placed the boy on probation.

Charles J. McGonigle, better known as "Gussie," was in court Monday for assaulting Jacob Stone, a Nonantum cobbler and Patrolman Peter J. McAleer. He was found guilty and for the first offence was given five months in the house of correction and on the second nine months in the same institution.

The straw hat proposition is being considered. "Shall we wear white or black straw?" the officers ask each other.

At The Churches.

On Friday evening, March 7th, at the Auburndale Congregational chapel Miss Caroline M. Caswell will tell of the work of the Willard Y. Settlement in Boston.

The ladies of the First church, Newton Centre, served an excellent supper for the benefit of the furnishing fund last Wednesday. Later in the evening Mrs. Osgood played violin solos.

The communion will be held next Sunday at Channing church at the close of the morning service.

State House Letter.

Boston, Feb. 26.

The review of legislation in this correspondence should naturally cover a fortnight, as the pressure of matters crowded out the latter last week. The hearings of committees are now at their height, so far as numbers and interest are concerned, and every day crowds come to the State House to listen to the arguments made. There are not many days of debate in the House and Senate, although the sessions of the House daily increase in length, and so will regularly run from two o'clock until twenty minutes of five each afternoon.

On Monday of this week, Frank M. Forbush of Newton appeared before the committee on constitutional amendments to advocate the resubmission to the people of the question of passing a constitutional amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. The last time this question was submitted to the people was in 1889, when the amendment failed of acceptance by the people by a majority of some 40,000.

The committee on insurance, of which Representative Dana is chairman, has twenty-one matters pending before it this year, none of them of as great importance as has been the case in some years. Everything is assigned for hearings between now and March 12. The committee follows a plan which is much more to the liking of all concerned than was the case a few years ago, of sending for the insurance commissioner, F. L. Cutting, whenever it wanted light upon the bills pending before it.

Chairman Bullard of the railroad committee has not, as yet, been compelled to devote many hours a week to hearings, but all the matters pending before the committee have now been assigned for hearings. The old question of providing that the maximum fares on railroads in the state shall be not over two cents a mile, which was advocated so ardently by Representative Estabrooks of Newton a few years ago, will be considered on Tuesday of next week.

Tomorrow the committee on cities meets to give a hearing on the petition that Newton may pay a sum of money to Abbey F. Humphrey and on another bill that Newton may pay a sum to Mary A. Foley.

The petition as to the Newton Board of assessors is assigned for hearing by the committee on cities on March 11, at 10 o'clock. The metropolitan affairs committee, of which Senator Skinner is a member, met on Monday to hear what ex-Mayor Matthews of Boston might have to say in response to the red-hot criticisms of his "deep-tunnel" subway bill which emanated from President J. Richard Carter of the associated board of trade at the hearing one week ago; but, as it happened, Mr. Matthews was unable to be present. Mayor Collins appeared before the committee but declined to go into the discussion of the measure and the bill went over until some future date.

It seems to be generally admitted by those conversant with the issue pending before the railroad commissioners, of whom George W. Bishop of Newton is one, on the question of approving a location granted the Waltham Street Railway Company in Main street, Waltham, by the aldermen of that city, that the street railway law of 1898 is not only on trial as never before, but that very grave questions of public policy as well as important legal questions are involved. The question came before the board after a protest of abutters representing property upon the street valued at more than $1,500,000, and during the consideration of the matter in a number of hearings which have been given, Mr. William P. Coolidge of your city has represented the Lexington & Boston and Newton street railway companies. Of course the Waltham company is anxious to secure all the benefits which would result from the approval of an order which would compel the Newton company to relocate its tracks for a long distance at an expense of approximately $50,000, which the Newton company considers a condemnation of its property without compensation, while as has been stated very tersely in the arguments before the board, the Newton company has every thing to lose and nothing to gain through the decision the board may make. On the other hand it is argued that the Waltham company loses nothing unless it be a chance to get a part of the Newton company's legitimate business as the Newton company offers to carry the Waltham company's cars over its line to Watertown and Newton, while the public loses nothing because its needs are all cared for. Among the questions of which it is assured the board will decide before it takes up questions of public policy are under what circumstances it will take jurisdiction on questions of relocation of tracks; who is "an interested party" under the statute; whether abutters have the right to protect themselves against the alteration of tracks, as well as against locations and extensions; whether alterations must be accepted by the owners of the track; what constitutes a "good and sufficient" reason for the relocation; whether one company can be forced to the expense of removing its track from one side of the street to the other in order that a rival may occupy its old location; whether extra obligations can be imposed by a board of aldermen in the way of relocation; whether definiteness in regard to pole locations as necessary as in regard to track locations; whether "an original location" can be made upon a part of a street already occupied by the tracks of another company; and many others.

On the question of public policy which the board must consider is a determination whether the rights of the whole people are protected and its convenience promoted by the approval of the order of the Waltham aldermen not in part, but in its entirety; as to compelling a company already in a street to spend $50,000 simply to allow a rival to get in the same street; as to the approval of two single track lines in the main street of a thickly populated city rather than a double track to be operated by one company hauling the cars of a connecting company under reasonable terms; whether it is good public policy to run the risk of danger by having two systems of electricity in one street; to have three tracks instead of two; two sets of poles instead of one; two feed wires instead of one, etc.; as to breaking connections at the boundary line of Waltham and Watertown, thus compelling a change of cars; whether in estors in street railway securities must expect in the future that on request of a rival company, their earnings for a whole year or two are to be diverted to unnecessary removal of tracks to accommodate a rival; as to permitting competition when the existing company is able and willing to perform to its fullest extent its public duties; whether localities with railroad train service of fifty trains a day and three street railway lines requires as a matter of necessity another competing street railway line; whether a locality served with thirty trains a day each way requires more street railway accommodations than the ability to ride in one car without payment of more than five cents a distance of six miles; and lastly whether a company chartered to build a line between two given termini, one a boundary line between two municipalities; the other a junction with Newton street railway, shall before it has operated a part of its main line or got itself into a position to do so be authorized to build extensions which require the paralleling of miles of track of an existing company, when the existing company offers to carry the cars over its junction point to the end of its line.

Of course, Mr. Coolidge argues that the only answer the board can make to these legal propositions or these questions of public policy is a refusal to approve the location granted by the Waltham aldermen. To the readers of the Graphic, who doubtless understand very well the details of the contest which is barely outlined in the foregoing statement, it is hardly necessary to point out that the decision, which ever way it is given will be almost epochal in its character, as it cannot fail to serve as a precedent for decisions in many cases which may arise in the immediate future. It is well that Commissioner Bishop has associated with him men of such personal integrity as Chairman Jackson and Commissioner White, the first of whom is recognized as a man of great legal attainments and the other as one of great business acumen.

The committee on cities has assigned March 11th as the date for hearing the bill to provide a two year term for the Mayor of Newton. It is not expected that any serious opposition will develop to this measure.

Hanna's Third McKinley Article.

Senator Hanna, who has been contributing to the "National Magazine" a series of articles on "William McKinley As I Knew Him," has been so busy with party and national affairs during the past thirty days that he was unable to prepare the third paper of the series for the March number of the magazine. He has chosen for the theme of this paper the story of McKinley's first days in the White House. No other living man is so well able to tell the exact truth concerning the events of that time as Senator Hanna, and from no other living man will the American people be so eager to hear that story. The Senator promises to have this article ready for publication in the April number of the "National," and it is safe to say that it will have more readers than any other magazine contribution of the month.

A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

(FOR THE NEWTON GRAPHIC.)

Thoughts suggested by the death of Miss Grace M. Clapp, who died in Newtonville on Dec. 29th, 1901, and buried on New Year's Day, 1902. Affectionately inscribed to her parent, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clapp:

As we gazed on the face of her so fair,
Freed from pain and all earth's care,
And the myriad flowers so sweet and bright,
I placed on the casket pure and white.

Methought 'twas a picture sadly sweet,
And for a life so gracious it was met;
Too fair I thought to lay away,
On this bright and happy New Year's day.

Not for the sorrowing ones so bright,
But for her spirit full of light,
In Heaven for her glad New Year,
No pain or sorrow or a tear.

But so young, you say, for her to go,
And we shall miss her here below,
So gentle, patient, kind was she,
And so the ways look dark to thee.

Ah! no, we cannot see the sun,
When He takes our treasures one by one,
With heavy hearts and tear-dimmed eyes,
We see no radiance in the skies.

But when we grieve, He doth not chide,
For He did weep, our Master, Guide,
And so if we do not understand,
The way which He has wisely planned,

His patient still, but bids us trust,
For He is loving, kind and just;
And by this chastening we call aye,
He is calling us to His most near.

And so when that glad day shall come,
That He'll call you too, to that Heavenly home, Methinks your darling will await,
And welcome you at the Golden Gate.

For she cherishes still, your love so dear,
And in spirit purges she is often near,
Not lost, but just gone on before,
To a higher room through the open door.

And with the strength of health at last,
Her patient suffering now all past,
What a least New Year for her in Heaven,
A crown immortal to her give.

Washington Letter.

Washington, Feb. 24, 1912

Early last week the senate determined to take the vote on the Philippine tariff bill at four o'clock this afternoon and all who desired to speak on the subject were requested to govern themselves accordingly. Senators Bates, Spooner, and Patterson have been the leading speakers of the past week and the final hours of the consideration of the bill have been replete with interest. With remarkable versatility Senator Spooner analyzed the more important claims of his democratic colleagues and ridiculed their lack of logic with a keenness seldom equalled. At times he was interrupted by the democrats and permitted every interruption and answered every objection with a directness and frankness which rapidly diminished the desire of the democratic senator to expose themselves to the keen shafts with which their sophistries were met.

Earlier in the week the senate suspended the consideration of the Philippine bill long enough to pass the permanent census bill and to ratify the treaty with Denmark which transfers to the United States the Danish West Indies.

Having disposed of the war revenue repeal bill the House of Representatives turned its attention to the Indian Affairs bill and spent several tedious sessions in its consideration. During the consideration of this measure the Speaker permitted the discussion to range over a number of subjects and the remarks of Representative Wheeler of Kentucky, chronicled last week, were freely commented on. Mr. Boutell of Illinois made, perhaps, the wittiest reply to Mr. Wheeler and one that drew frequent applause from the republican side. Mr. Corliss of Michigan also took occasion to present his views on the question of a Pacific canal.

On Friday the Indian bill was passed and the consideration of private claims was taken up. The chief interests in the House at this writing centers in the Ways and Means committee where those members who are recognized as the party leaders are considering the question of reciprocity with Cuba. Mr. Payne, who was originally opposed to such a measure, has been won over by the arguments of the President and now favors reasonable reciprocity.

I called on Postmaster General Payne Saturday and asked him if he would confirm the statement that hereafter it would be the policy of the administration to remove fourth class postmasters only "for cause."

"There is nothing in the law," replied Mr. Payne, "to warrant the removal of postmasters at the end of four years and I see no good reason for so doing." But, Mr. Payne, "I said, it is not a fact that the postmasters are regarded as the special prerequisites of the local organizations, and will not this radical departure from the time honored custom injure the party?" "They may have been regarded as perquisites," said Mr. Payne, "but I see no reason for removing a postmaster unless the interests of the administration, good politics or good government demand it."

"You mention 'good politics,'" would not the fact that the local organization or the Congressman of the district, regarded the removal of the incumbent and the appointment of another as essential to the success of the party come under the head of 'good politics'?" I asked. "No, I believe that in the long run more injury is done to the party by the supplanting of one republican by another than the reverse. The knowledge that this department made removals only for cause would save members of Congress from many grave embarrassments. They are now frequently called upon to decide between factions where their decision is bound to make enemies for themselves and the party. Of course, I do not say that I would condemn changes where the administration demanded politically, but under all other circumstances, I regard it as good government—which means good politics—to make changes only where the incumbent proves himself unfit for the office. I am opposed to the principle of 'paying political debts with government positions.'"

Something That Will Do You Good

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that will be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we haven't any doubt but that it has time and again prevented croup. The testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safeguard against croup. —Cauden, (S. C.) A Topographic Map of the Boston Region.

The United States Geological Survey has recently issued a reprint of the two topographic maps embracing the region of Boston and vicinity. They are known as the Boston and Boston Bay sheets, and are now available. The maps are on a scale of one mile to the inch, and include the suburban districts as far west as Waltham, north to Stoughton and Woburn, south to Hyde Park and east to Nantasket and Marblehead Neck. They show in great detail the usual features of cities, towns, roads and streams and in addition the features of relief, such as the slopes of hills and valleys and the elevations above sea level of all parts of the section. They are parts of the topographic map of the State of Massachusetts and may be had at five cents each on application to the Director of the U. S. Geological Survey, Washington.

DRUGGIST.

Whist without prizes.

A goodly company of women enjoyed a whist at Mrs. Walton's, West Newton, Thursday afternoon of last week. The special feature of the occasion was the absence of prizes, and the rendering of some original rhymes, which caused much merriment.

Before the card playing began, the following poem was read:

Now here's an undisputed chance
For equal rights for all,
Who choose to take a hand at cards
And watch, with care, their fall.

Who care not for the fame that comes From standing at the head,
But just enjoy a simple game,
By kindly influence led.

Will typify the saying
Of repeated good and true,
And do to others as we would
That they to us should do.

Will to the one who at the foot,
For any reason stands,
Give the same kindly word of cheer
As to her who most commands.

And live up to our doctrine
Of equal rights for all,
Whether a man or woman born,
That matters—not at all.

After the card playing, toasts were given and drunk in lemonade to the following—Our Hostess.

The winner, Miss E. J. Simpson
The second, Mrs. N. T. Allen.
Consolation for the Lowest Mrs. C. W. Eaton.

The poem read for each toast is here given.

OUR HOSTESS—MRS. WALTON.

Here's to our dearest member,
She is our Hostess too,
She's ever in the foremost rank,
To all good causes true,
Only we'd the needed funds,
We'd drink her health in new,
For if we can't get all our rights,
We've always our Electa.

THE WINNER.

Now in the town of Newton, Mass,
The women are so wise,
They're famous for their learning,
As they are for cakes and pies,
They give each subject on the list,
Attention undivided, Success is most decided,
But they're so just, that when one leads
They grant to her the laurel,
So, pin a yellow ribbon
On the winner of the game.

THE SECOND.

Woman Suffragists assembled,
We would call to your attention,
Mrs. Allen is the second,
In our annual contention.
We've no prize for her in new,
But we wish in every strife,
She may always be the victor,
Through a long and happy life.

THE LOWEST.

"The first shall be last and the last shall be first,"
Is proverb we heard in our youth,
And nobody here who's been playing at whist,
Will doubt for one moment its truth.
You know you can't beat if you don't Have the cards.
That's surely as certain as sin!
The lady whose score is the lowest to-day,
The next time will probably win.

All who think a card party cannot succeed without prizes should have been present. A good cause was made for the Newton Woman Suffrage League.

"I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a number of years and have no hesitancy in saying that it is the best remedy for coughs, colds and croup I have ever used in my family. I have no words to express my confidence in this Remedy.—Mrs. J. A. Moore, North Star, Mich. For sale by all druggists.

His machine broke down and he accepted the offer of two men who were driving in a cart to take him to the city. When he started to remunerate them he found his purse had disappeared and when he accused the drivers they whipped up their horses and drove rapidly away.

—The annual Washington's birthday banquet was held at Lasell Seminary last Saturday evening and proved to be one of the features of the winter season. Later a mock trial was given under the auspices of the senior class. The affair dealt with the trial of George Washington on the charge of cutting down his father's cherry tree. Many local hits were given and the program closed with the singing of patriotic songs by the entire class. Mrs. Blanche C. Morgan and Miss Austin, instructor in English, directed the affair.

Colonial Exhibit and Tea.

There was no more fitting observance of Washington's Birthday in this city last Saturday than the colonial exhibit and tea given in the afternoon and evening at the residence of Mrs. Charles S. Dennison on Kirkstall road, Newtonville. The affair was under the auspices of Lucy Jackson chapter, D. A. R.

The interior of the house was beautified with appropriate decorations which greatly heightened the effect of the arrangement of relics.

On the walls of the spacious hall were hung portraits of some of those prominent in colonial times. These paintings formed a rare collection as many or nearly all of them were originals.

The articles that made up the interesting exhibition included much that commanded deepest interest, as there were many of priceless value, such as a tograph letters of Washington and Lafayette.

From 3 to 6 in the afternoon the guests inspected the collection and a minuet was danced. There was a reception in the evening with Mrs. Dennison, Miss Fannie B. Allen, regent of the chapter, Mrs. J. R. Carter, Mrs. Charles W. Leonard and Mrs. Arthur P. Friend as hostesses.

More than a score of chapter members assisted in the dining room. Many of the colonial costumes worn were of attractive design and added to the brilliancy of the occasion.

Waltham or Newton—Which?

than likely to have this fight all over again. We do not believe that the present Main street franchise to this corporation will be approved. What are you going to do about it?

As opposed to this company, whose resources you know nothing about but whose honesty has been weighed in the balance and found most wretchedly lacking, you have the Boston & Suburban Electric Co., owning and operating already 82 miles of road with a paid up capital of nearly $1,500,000, with assets worth over $2,000,000, and equipped with nearly 200 cars; roads, which, by the last published Railroad Commissioners report, carried 8,470,752 passengers during the previous year. The Waltham Co. never has run a car, if indeed it owns one, has no road to run one on, has no power house and no method for running a car if it had one and a continuous track, and its entire assets seem to be two interrupted streaks of rust, a questionable right of way, and unlimited assurance and violated promises on the part of those connected with it. Which of these two corporations is liable in the reasonable condition of affairs to do the most lasting service for Waltham? Set all promises aside; what are the probabilities? At the head of the combined companies is a man who is determined that Waltham shall have good service. He prefers that actions shall tell the story, not mere words. If this company comes again to the Board of Aldermen of the City of Waltham it is well to remember that their property is very extensive in this city; their interests are identified with Waltham's interests; they are men who do not lightly make promises only to forget them. President Chaffin is a thorough business man, who realizes that the selfish interests of the corporation themselves require the utmost good faith and accommodation to the public.

It will be of interest to the readers of this column to know that three of the members of the Physical Department have passed successful examinations and have been appointed as patrolmen of the police department of Boston.
